The Siren, Vol. 21 Paul O. Ritcher, 2017-01-09 Excerpt from The Siren Vol 21 September 1930 Every year at this time this old question comes to the ears of the editors of campus publications It is an old question and it is our opinion that it should be answered at once if not sooner We believe that this University is not in need of a faculty The students already have five faculties taste smell touch sight and hearing and for the sake of convenience and economy we see no reason to support a teaching faculty It is one of the most expensive of the possible six faculties and gives the least enjoyment Tasting this that or maybe the other is pleasant to the male students three times a day and to our ladies of the campus as often as their escorts care to provide this type of entertainment for them to enjoy Smelling is not always enjoyable in the chem building but few of the leaders of our University's social life will deny that smelling perfume or powder is indeed pleasing Touch is a minor faculty but it leads us into few difficulties On the other hand we must have touched An attempt to do away with it would greatly disrupt our every day life doing away with the teaching faculty would tend to speed up our drab routine into a cycle of pleasure Sight and hearing can also be considered in the same manner as touch with the only addition of pleasure on bright windy days due to the sight faculty About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
