

Geometry Centers of Triangles

The following are all points which can be considered the center of a triangle.

Centroid (Medians)

The centroid is the intersection of the three medians of a triangle. A median is a line segment drawn from a vertex to the midpoint of the line opposite the vertex.

- The centroid is located  $\frac{2}{3}$  of the way from a vertex to the opposite side. That is, the distance from a vertex to the centroid is double the length from the centroid to the midpoint of the opposite line.
- The medians of a triangle create 6 inner triangles of equal area.

Orthocenter (Altitudes)

The orthocenter is the intersection of the three altitudes of a triangle. An altitude is a line segment drawn from a vertex to a point on the opposite side (extended, if necessary) that is perpendicular to that side.

- In an acute triangle, the orthocenter is inside the triangle.
- In a right triangle, the orthocenter is the right angle vertex.
- In an obtuse triangle, the orthocenter is outside the triangle.

Circumcenter (Perpendicular Bisectors)

The circumcenter is the intersection of the perpendicular bisectors of the three sides of the triangle. A perpendicular bisector is a line which both bisects the side and is perpendicular to the side. The circumcenter is also the center of the circle circumscribed about the triangle.

- In an acute triangle, the circumcenter is inside the triangle.
- In a right triangle, the circumcenter is the midpoint of the hypotenuse.
- In an obtuse triangle, the circumcenter is outside the triangle.

Incenter (Angle Bisectors)

The incenter is the intersection of the angle bisectors of the three angles of the triangle. An angle bisector cuts an angle into two congruent angles, each of which is half the measure of the original angle. The incenter is also the center of the circle inscribed in the triangle.

Descriptive Geometry Notes James C. Davis, 1914      The Non-Euclidean Revolution Richard J. Trudeau, 2013-12-01
Richard Trudeau confronts the fundamental question of truth and its representation through mathematical models in The Non Euclidean Revolution First the author analyzes geometry in its historical and philosophical setting second he examines a revolution every bit as significant as the Copernican revolution in astronomy and the Darwinian revolution in biology third on the most speculative level he questions the possibility of absolute knowledge of the world Trudeau writes in a lively entertaining and highly accessible style His book provides one of the most stimulating and personal presentations of a struggle with the nature of truth in mathematics and the physical world A portion of the book won the Plya Prize a distinguished award from the Mathematical Association of America      NBS Technical Note ,1979-06      SRA
