Talk and Practical Epistemology Jack Sidnell, 2005-01-01. Drawing on the methods of conversation analysis and ethnography, this book sets out to examine the epistemological practices of Indo-Guyanese villagers as these are revealed in their talk and daily conduct. Based on over eighty-five hours of conversation recorded during twelve months of ethnographic fieldwork, the book describes both the social distribution of knowledge and the villagers methods for distinguishing between fact and fancy knowledge and belief through close analyses of particular encounters The various chapters consider uncertainty and expertise in advice giving the cultivation of ignorance in an attempt to avoid scandal and the organization of peer groups through the display of knowledge in the activity of reminiscing local history An orienting chapter on questions and an appendix provide an introduction to conversation analysis The book makes a contribution to linguistic anthropology conversation analysis and cross cultural pragmatics The conclusion discusses the implications of the analysis for current understanding of practice knowledge and social organization in anthropology and neighboring disciplines

Engaging Film Criticism Walter Metz,2004 Engaging Film Criticism examines recent American cinema in relationship to its imaginative intertexts films from earlier decades that engage similar political and cultural themes This historical encounter provides an unexpected and exciting way of reading popular contemporary films Eclectic pairings include the Schwarzenegger action film True Lies with the Hitchcock classic North by Northwest as well as the lampooned Will Smith comedy Wild Wild West with Buster Keaton s silent feature The General Using a theoretically and historically informed brand of criticism Engaging Film Criticism suggests that today s Hollywood cinema is every bit as worthy of study as the classics genres media and countries including poetry by Donne Shakespeare Robert Lowell and Les Murray To Kill a Mockingbird an episode of Friends and even one chapter using only the example of Huckleberry Finn The authors reconfigure critical literacy so that it can give proper consideration to the aesthetic which involves paying attention to such things as individual identity human emotion creativity and the value and productivity of texts Acknowledging these things within critical literacy is vital As Misson and Morgan emphasize it is one of the greatest pleasures and responsibilities of being an English teacher that we work critically and creatively with the aesthetic and its rich sense of human possibility Harper Lee's To Kill a Mockingbird Donald F. Teaching Writing Mary Frances Claggett, 2005 This new resource for writing teachers helps students set purpose and find form for their writing. In today's educational climate it is more important than ever that we prepare our students to be effective and competent writers who can write for a variety of purposes. How can we teach our students the skills they need to be successful while also fostering an appreciation for the process, craft and art of writing? Drawing from sound theory and research as well as on many years of experience in the English classroom, Fran Claggett and colleagues Joan Brown, Nancy Patterson and Louann Reid have created a writing teacher's resource to help both new and experienced teachers sort through the often complex issues in the teaching of writing. With innovative teacher tested strategies for creating a classroom in which students thrive as writers, Teaching Writing: Craft, Art, Genre is a must have addition to every writing teacher's library. In this volume you'll discover research based discussions on key issues, classroom ready lessons for teaching genre, methods for incorporating poetry into the writing program, rationale and lessons for using modeling to teach writing, ideas for integrating technology in the English classroom, strategies for teaching grammar in contexts for writing, examples of student work that illustrate teaching concepts, sample rubrics for assessment and student self assessment and an extensive bibliography of resources.
