BoogarLists | Directory of Media Broadcast Services , Producing and Directing the Short Film and Video David K. Irving, Peter W. Rea, 2013-03-20 Producing and Directing the Short Film and Video is the definitive book on the subject for beginning filmmakers and students. The book clearly illustrates all of the steps involved in preproduction, production, postproduction, and distribution. Its unique two-fold approach looks at filmmaking from the perspectives of both producer and director and explains how their separate energies must combine to create a successful short film or video from script to final product. This guide offers extensive examples from award-winning shorts and includes insightful quotes from the filmmakers themselves describing the problems they encountered and how they solved them. The companion website contains useful forms and information on grants and financing, sources, distributors, film and video festivals, film schools, internet sources for short works, and professional associations.

New York Court of Appeals. Records and Briefs. New York (State)., Directory of Special Libraries and Information Centers , 2009 Encounters with the 30s Jordana Mendelson, 2012 The catalogue is a tour through the 30s addressing the issues about alliances and confrontations between art and power given in a period marked by a climate of political violence that ends with World War II. Factors like the appearance of important industrial innovations and technologies are accompanied by a current of eclecticism in the arts, echoing their own times and gathering the main concerns from a political, aesthetical, and cultural point of view.

Native Americans on Network TV Michael Ray FitzGerald, 2013-12-24 The American Indian has figured prominently in many films and television shows portrayed variously as a villain, subservient friend, or a hapless victim of progress. Many Indian stereotypes that were derived from European colonial discourse, some hundreds of years old, still exist in the media today. Even when set in the contemporary era, novels, films, and programs tend to purvey rehashed tropes such as Pocahontas or Man Friday. In Native Americans on Network TV: Stereotypes, Myths, and the Good Indian, Michael Ray FitzGerald argues that the colonial power of the U.S. is clearly evident in network television's portrayals of Native Americans FitzGerald contends that these representations fit neatly into existing conceptions of colonial discourse and that their messages about the Good Indian have become part of viewers' understandings of Native Americans. In this study FitzGerald offers close examinations of such series as The Lone Ranger, Daniel Boone, Broken Arrow, Hawk, Nakia, and Walker Texas Ranger. By examining the traditional role of stereotypes and their functions in the rhetoric of colonialism, the volume ultimately offers a critical analysis of images of the Good Indian, minority figures that enforce the dominant group's norms. A long overdue discussion of this issue, Native Americans on Network TV will be of interest to scholars of television and media studies but also those of Native American studies, subaltern studies, and media history.
