The Journals of the Lewis and Clark Expedition are widely heralded as a lasting achievement. In all thirteen volumes are projected which together will provide a complete record of the expedition. Volume 11 contains the journals of expedition member Joseph Whitehouse. His journals are the only surviving account written by an army private on the expedition and he is one of the least known of the expedition party. Following the expedition Whitehouse had a checkered army career and he disappeared after 1817. His capabilities have been unfairly slighted by previous commentators despite his narrative skill and evidence that he was a man of a lively and curious mind. His extensive journal entries contribute to our understanding of the epochal journey and of the unusual group of men who undertook one of the defining events in our history. The last part of his journals was not found until 1966; this is the first publication of the complete record of his account. The Definitive Journals of Lewis and Clark Meriwether Lewis, William Clark, Gary E. Moulton, 2002-01-01. Lively and curious, possessing a keen eye for detail and a knack for skin dressing, Private Joseph Whitehouse produced an account that stands as the only surviving record by any army private in the Corps of Discovery expedition. In simple and well-paced sentences he painted full portraits of the unusual group of men he accompanied on one of the greatest adventures in American history. Whitehouse's journal is published here in full for the first time, including entries from a second copy of his journal that extend the narrative for five months beyond previous editions. Although Whitehouse's career after the expedition was checkered and he disappeared after 1817, his vivid eyewitness account will long be remembered. Whitehouse's journal joins the celebrated Nebraska edition of the complete journals of the Lewis and Clark expedition, which feature a wide range of new scholarship dealing with all aspects of the expedition from geography to Indian cultures and languages to plants and animals. Hammond's Travel Encyclopedia of America Emil Leopold Jordan, 1956
