El-Hi Textbooks & Serials in Print, 2005 ,2005 Regeneration Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Communities and Local Government Committee,2011-11-03 The Government set out its new approach to regeneration in Regeneration to enable growth What Government is doing in support of community led regeneration DCLG But the document gives the Committee little confidence that the Government has a clear strategy for addressing the country s regeneration needs It lacks strategic direction and is unclear about the nature of the problem it is trying to solve It focuses overwhelmingly upon the achievement of economic growth giving little emphasis to the specific issues faced by deprived communities and areas of market failure The proposed measures are unlikely to bring in sufficient resources Funding for regeneration has been reduced dramatically and disproportionately over the past two years and unless alternative sources can be found there is a risk of problems being stored up for the future Also lacking is a strategy for attracting private sector investment And the document gives too much prominence to changes to the planning system and does not acknowledge the benefits effective planning has brought to regeneration The financial and economic climate has impacted dramatically upon regeneration but the withdrawal of Housing Market Renewal Funding in particular has created significant problems leaving many residents trapped in half abandoned streets The Committee suggests a number of measures that could as part of a wider approach contribute to stimulating regeneration and incentivising private sector involvement The Government should now produce a national regeneration strategy which sets out a coherent approach to tackling deprivation and market failure in the country s most disadvantaged areas The Comprehensive Textbook of Healthcare Simulation Adam I.

Egan,Eva Lee,Duane Caneva,2025-10-30 SARS CoV 2 has unleashed the pandemic of the century inflicting over a million deaths in the United States and over six million deaths worldwide since it was first reported in December 2019 COVID 19 the disease caused by SARS CoV 2 overwhelmed healthcare systems paralyzed the global economy set back education disrupted the supply chain and traumatized every fiber of critical infrastructure in society In developing countries COVID 19 set back decades of progress in fighting hunger poverty illiteracy and childhood health protection via vaccination Although substantial resources have been invested in pandemic preparedness and response it is clear that the world was not prepared for COVID 19 as public health leaders ignored warnings and failed to convert their level of preparedness into timely actions for early disease containment and effective mitigation Nonetheless this devastating crisis triggered unparalleled and critical scientific advances including novel diagnostic testing and drug design advances in clinical treatment and rapid vaccine development As we continue to fight the virus variants work to reduce the burden of illness and curb transmission globally to end the pandemic we must understand and investigate the challenges advances and lessons learned in order to better prepare and protect humanity against the next pandemic While countries have varied significantly in their available resources and application of public health measures to combat the spread of the virus this pandemic clearly shows that a country's wealth does not necessarily secure the health of its citizens A successful pandemic response demands decisive leadership and look ahead system competence The pandemic crisis calls for a reassessment that leads to innovation in public health disaster medicine This presents a clear opportunity for building a resilient society and infrastructure by drawing from successful actions and lessons learned from every part of the world The number of infectious disease outbreaks has been accelerating many of which have pandemic potential These disease outbreaks constitute a major global risk and require coordinated and decisive actions across all countries Public health must seize the moment as the COVID 19 pandemic offers a wealth of lessons for reassessment and innovation to build a better and sustained health security future This research topic seeks original research on topics related to the challenges scientific advances clinical and basic science and lessons learned during the COVID 19 crisis Examples of such topics include Optimizing constrained resources e g redesigning ventilators for multiple patient usage decontaminating N95 masks pooling for tests etc Novel drug and treatment discovery Rapid vaccine design Operations and systems redesign e g contact tracing mass screening and vaccination adapting clinical facilities alternative care delivery and manufacturing bottlenecks Tradeoffs and impact of various public health policies and response actions in mitigating the pandemic We expect authors from the following range but not limited to 1 Scientists and clinicians who succeeded in advancing ventilator usage by making it for multiple people to share one 2 Scientists who have succeeded in decontaminating the N95 so that it can be used for 21 days instead of 1 day 3 Hospital leaders who succeeded in adapting the clinical environment so that it can adapt to the maximum number of patients being agile and being able to protect their workers 4 mRNA technology how it overcomes the time hurdle to roll out at such rapid speed 5 How local strike teams raced through the limited resources and time and managed to vaccinate as many people as possible

Connecting the Dots in Physiotherapy: Reframing the Role of the Profession in the Anthropocene Berta Paz-Lourido,Filip Maric,2025-10-24

For many decades physiotherapy services were characterized by rehabilitative care carried out primarily in hospitals and rehabilitation centers. Despite clinical, educational, and research advances in many parts of the world, the imagination of policymakers and administrators in health services remains irremediably linked to large rooms with dozens of stretchers and rehabilitation equipment. From those black and white photographs that are part of the honorable past of the profession where physiotherapy played and still plays a crucial role in caring for victims of wars or those with consequences of polio, the discipline has moved on to a painting of a multitude of colors. Looking toward the future in the Anthropocene requires more than ever to delve into the roots of the etymology of the term physiotherapy, much more linked to interventions connected to nature than to closed clinical spaces as much related to health promotion and early intervention as to tertiary conservative and contributory procedures. The use of physical agents in their curative, preventive, and palliative facets is much broader in physiotherapy than in other health disciplines. But it is also crucial in public health in the co-design of healthy environments in health promotion in schools or in global health interventions to mention just a few. Despite all this research practice and innovative education in this area is often invisible, and studies that support this breadth are still scarce. The current challenges posed by planetary and human health require an alternative vision of health care more linked to healthy environments, home, neighborhood, educational institutions, workplace, leisure spaces, etc., and a perspective of health interventions as more integrated with society and the environment. The role of physiotherapy in this open space enjoys a growing and strong interest anchored in part as a response to the reductionism that a relevant part of clinical research grants to physiotherapy increased with the massive inclusion of technology as a therapeutic and educational mediator. Incorporating planetary and population health as well as social and ecological perspectives into physiotherapy pedagogy would facilitate community engagement and sustainability in the field. This open approach to physiotherapy allows not only to transform people's lives but also to bring the seemingly distant premises of planetary health to local action. It is now urgently necessary to bring scientific research in this area to the surface, open new debates, and create spaces for future studies based on a more systemic, relational, and questioning conception of the discipline and its eco-social role and responsibilities. This Research Topic aims to highlight the role of physiotherapy in nature-based health promotion interventions in public health initiatives, global health, and planetary health approaches and many more. We will accept all methodologies and study designs including theoretical perspectives. To contribute towards the development of this broad scope of physiotherapy, this Research Topic calls for submissions on physiotherapy linked to natural-based interventions and health promotion. Planetary health from a global, local, and local-global perspective. Global health, ethics, climate justice, and human rights. Environmental physiotherapy in all its approaches. Urban planning and design, green and blue cities, zones, co-participation, governance, and public policies. Healthy environments of all types from broad approaches such as healthy cities to other areas such as healthy schools, universities, workplaces, leisure places. Use of raw materials in physiotherapy, sustainability, and eco-friendly strategies.
