A Crisis in Civic Education American Council of Trustees and Alumni,2016 There is a crisis in American civic education Survey after survey shows that recent college graduates are alarmingly ignorant of America s history and heritage They cannot identify the term lengths of members of Congress the substance of the First Amendment or the origin of the separation of powers They do not know the Father of the Constitution and nearly 10% say that Judith Sheindlin Judge Judy is on the Supreme Court Studies show that our colleges and universities are doing little or nothing to address the knowledge gap A recent survey by the American Council of Trustees and Alumni ACTA of over 1 100 liberal arts colleges and universities found that only a handful 18% require students to take even one survey course in American history or government before they graduate In a country that depends upon an educated populace ignorance of its history and founding documents will be disastrous An annual survey by the Newseum Institute gives point to the alarm When asked to identify the rights guaranteed by the First Amendment one third of Americans could not name a single right 43% could not even name freedom of speech as one of those rights How did America get to such a state And what is to be done This report outlines the problem and more importantly what must be done to restore rich civic education for all students and especially the college graduates who will be the next generation of leaders The following are appended 1 Sample Questions from the NAEP Test of Civic Knowledge and 2 Constitution Day Survey
