

has also released its latest version of processors which are Celeron and Core being the fastest of all.

Peripheral hardware. Peripheral hardware is the name for the computer components that are not found within the computer case. This includes input devices such as a mouse, microphone and keyboard, which carry information from the computer user to the processor, and output devices such as a monitor, printer and speakers, which display or transmit information from the computer back to the user.

Computer Ports

The peripheral hardware mentioned above must attach to the computer so that it can transmit information from the user to the computer (or vice versa). There are a variety of ports present on a computer for these attachments. These ports have gradually changed over time as computers have changed to become faster and easier to work with. Ports also vary with the type of equipment that connects to the ports. .

Serial Port. This port for use with 9 pin connectors is no longer commonly used, but is found on many older computers. It was used for printers, mice, modems and a variety of other digital devices.

Parallel Port. This long and slender port is also no longer commonly used, but was the most common way of attaching a printer to a computer until the introduction of USB. The most common parallel port has holes for 25 pins, but other models were also manufactured.

VGA. The Video Graphics Array port is found on most computers today and is used to connect video display devices such as monitors and projectors. It has three rows of holes, for a 15 pin connector.

PS/2. Until recently, this type of port was commonly used to connect keyboards and mice to computers. Most desktop computers have two of these round ports for six pin connectors, one for the mouse and one for the keyboard.

USB. The Universal Serial Bus is now the most common type of port on a computer. It was developed in the late 1990s as a way to replace the variety of ports described above. It can be used to connect mice, keyboards, printers, and external storage devices such as DVD-RW drives and flash drives. It has gone through three different models (USB 1.0, USB 2.0 and USB 3.0), with USB 3.0 being the fastest at sending and receiving information. Older USB devices can be used in newer model USB ports.
