Amiri Baraka and Edward Dorn Claudia Moreno Pisano, 2013-12-01 From the end of the 1950s through the middle of the 1960s Amiri Baraka b 1934 and Edward Dorn 1929 99 two self consciously avant garde poets fostered an intense friendship primarily through correspondence The early 1960s found both poets just beginning to publish and becoming public figures Bonding around their commitment to new and radical forms of poetry and culture Dorn and Baraka created an interracial friendship at precisely the moment when the Civil Rights Movement was becoming a powerful force in national politics The major premise of the Dorn Jones friendship as developed through their letters was artistic but the range of subjects in the correspondence shows an incredible intersection between the personal and the public providing a schematic map of what was so vital in postwar American culture to those living through it Their letters offer a vivid picture of American lives connecting around poetry during a tumultuous time of change and immense creativity Reading through these correspondences allows access into personal biographies and through these biographies profound moments in American cultural history open themselves to us in a way not easily found in official channels of historical narrative and memory craftsmen migrated between neighboring regions and the use of locally available materials fostered the transformation of designs in ways that are closely tied to specific places Starting from these sources this book untangles the intertwined narratives of architecture history and religion to provide a broader understanding of frontier culture in the medieval Middle East with its complex interaction of local regional and trans regional identities Finance & Industry ,1928 Motor Age ,1928 Catalogue of the San Francisco Free Public Library San Francisco Public Library,1889 Catalogue of the San Francisco Free Public Library, Short Titles San Francisco Public Library,1889 Supplementary Catalogue of Books Added to the San Francisco Free Public Library Since May, 1884.
