Down and Out in Eighteenth-Century London Tim Hitchcock, 2004-11-01 London in the 18th century was the greatest city in the world. It was a magnet that drew men and women from the rest of England in huge numbers. For a few, the streets were paved with gold, but for the majority, it was a harsh world with little guarantee of money or food. For the poor and destitute, London's streets offered little more than the barest living. Yet men, women, and children found a great variety of ways to eke out their existence: sweeping roads, selling matches, singing ballads, and performing all sorts of menial labor. Many of these activities, apart from the direct begging of the disabled, depended on an appeal to charity, but one often mixed with threats and promises. Down and Out in Eighteenth-Century London provides a remarkable insight into the lives of Londoners for all of whom the demands of charity and begging were part of their everyday world.
