Capp, 2003-01-16 This book explores how women of the poorer and middling sorts in early modern England negotiated a patriarchal culture in which they were generally excluded marginalized or subordinated It focuses on the networks of close friends gossips which gave them a social identity beyond the narrowly domestic providing both companionship and practical support in disputes with husbands and with neighbours of either sex The book also examines the micropolitics of the household with its internal alliances and feuds and women s agency in neighbourhood politics exercised by shaping local public opinion exerting pressure on parish officials and through the role of informal female juries If women did not openly challenge male supremacy they could often play a significant role in shaping their own lives and the life of the local community Change Partners Horace Annesley Vachell, 1923 The Cat Journal, 1908 The Milkmaid by Johannes

Liedtke, 2009 In this catalogue for the exhibition Walter Liedtke Curator of Paintings at the Metropolitan drawing on the Museum s five Vermeers scenes by other Dutch masters in the Museum s collection including Pieter de Hooch Gabriel Metsu Nicolaes Maes and Emanuel de Witte and several works on paper places the picture in the context of the artist s brief career and relates it to contemporary developments in Dutch art In addition to an extended discussion of the painting s provenance he provides a detailed study of the composition the several revisions made during the course of execution and the subtle relationships between light and shadow color contour and shape And he proposes a most intriguing argument for an erotic subtext pointing out that like maids and kitchen maids in earlier Netherlandish art the figure in The Milkmaid was meant to attract the male viewer to rouse in him temptation and restraint desire and reservation while the kitchen maid herself endowed with traits typically reserved for higher class women and surrounded by references to romance both literal and oblique is presented as having amorous thoughts of her own Mistresses & Maids Debra M.
