

Chapter 1: Learning about Life

Guided Reading Activities

Chapter Content: The Scientific Study of Life

Complete the following questions as you read the first chapter content—The Scientific Study of Life:

1. Biology is the scientific study of life.
2. Jane Goodall is famous for her research on chimpanzees. Dr. Goodall observed the chimpanzees for long periods of time and made numerous observations of them that she recorded very carefully. Which stage of scientific inquiry is this considered?

A) Exploration

B) Testing
C) Making a hypothesis
D) Drawing a conclusion
3. Use the following figure to answer this question. Assume your results reject your initial hypothesis as indicated. Briefly explain why you would not return to the exploration portion of the process to change the question instead of revising the hypothesis.

ANSWER:

Returning to the exploration part after the after one testing wouldn't prove whether my hypotheses is truly wrong, it will only make the hypotheses inconclusive. I would rather critically examine my data and revise the hypothesis to improve reliability and eliminate any form of inaccuracies from my result. Moreover, it will be nearly impossible to change the data collected during the exploration except I'm starting a new exploration.

Also, a hypothesis can be tested in different ways, if my results reject my initial hypothesis, I will carry out a second testing in another way, to make sure I completely satisfy that my hypothesis is wrong. Afterall, evaluating results is a part of the scientific method.
