I. Introduction

- * composed of glands that secrete their products into the circulatory system (acts at a distance)
- * secretory products are called hormones. Hormones effect the rates of cellular metabolic processes.

FYI – hormone comes from the Greek word hormazein meaning to set in motion

- * hormones act on a specific target site (receptor)
- * hormones can be amino acids derivatives (epinephrine), peptides (antidiuretic hormone), proteins (insulin), steroids (testosterone), or fatty acids (prostaglandins). Remember that amino acids make up peptides, which lipids.

make up proteins. Steroids and fatty acids are both

- * half-life – length of time necessary to degrade half a dose of a given substance.
- * lipid based on hormones have a long half-life (hours to days)
- * protein hormones have a short half-life (minutes)
- * half-life can be increased by binding to plasma proteins. This is called conjugation.

CHEMICAL COORDINATION

I. Receptors

- a specific and unique macromolecule that selectively binds a hormone and then mediated its effects upon the cell. Hormone receptors are proteins

and are recognize, they separated into three classes based on the hormones they bound to the cell, and method of information transfer after the hormone is their location within the cell.

III. Mechanisms of Hormone Action

A. Hormones that Bind to the Surface of the Cell

1. these are also known as second-messenger systems
2. includes virtually all of the protein or amino acid hormones, including the growth factor hormones
3. the cell binds to a membrane protein
4. relatively short-acting hormones (seconds to minutes)

B. Hormones that Bind to a Receptor in the Cytoplasm

1. includes the steroid hormones
2. hormones enter plasma membrane and bind to receptor
3. relatively long-acting hormones (hours to days)

C. Hormones that Bind to a Receptor in the Nucleus
