as well Once you've studied up be sure to take advantage of as many practice exams as you can Treat these exams like real tests study extensively for them time yourself as you take them and then note which questions and more importantly what type of questions you regularly get wrong On your first test did you struggle with the Anesthesia codes Go back over that section Were you sloppy with your ICD 10 CM codes Review the ICD 10 CM manual A number of private companies have practice CPC exams but the AAPC's practice exams are probably your best bet Don't treat practice exams as formalities or wastes of time Many practice exams can be easier than the actual exam but you should still take them seriously You should try and score at least an 80% on a practice exam before you take the real CPC exam

TAKING THE TEST When you take the CPC exam you're allowed to bring in each of the code manuals the ICD CPT and HCPCS manuals You're allowed to have notes in the margins of these manuals but these notes can't contain any test specific information You are also not allowed to tape anything into these manuals It's a good idea to mark the important or frequently used sections of your code manuals The CPT manual for instance comes with a number of tabs you can place in the book to mark certain important places Use these to mark off where code sections begin like the Surgery or Medicine sections in the CPT manual and where to find certain appendices When you're taking the CPC exam you'll be asked to perform though you were coding at your regular coding job so set up your manual in the way that makes the most sense for you Also be aware that each manual has loads of helpful information beyond the codes The CPT manual has a number of diagrams of the human body including illustrations of the ocular system and adnexa the musculoskeletal system the nervous system and much more Mark these pages and refer to them during the test if you're stumped on a question pertaining to anatomical terminology
