Defective Institutions Jacques Lezra, 2024-03-05 Defective Institutions overturns the basis of institutionalism Faith in classic institutions exposed as clamorously inadequate by the failure of governance under neoliberalism does not result in greater democracy greater horizontality or more equitable living Nor does trust in the standing of decisions in the authority of antecedent cases in the coherence strength continuity or solidity of the institutions that frame and render legitimate these decisions and the rules they buttress To the contrary the classically imagined institution and our faith in it lie at the heart of neoliberal unfreedom and racialized violence Working at the point of contact and conflict between socialist and anarcho philosophical traditions Defective Institutions offers an alternative which is also an alternative to the figures of governance associated with the liberal conception of the state an aberrant republicanism comprised of defective institutions run through with the necessity of their abolition Lezra's book moves from the primitive scenes of Western political institution the city the family the university the first person race through recent work in the philosophy of translation decolonial studies abolitionism Afropessimism and its critiques psychoanalysis and musicology To offer an original wedding of abolition and institution Lezra brings together genealogies of contemporary institutionalism from Durkheim and Hauriou to Searle post Marxist accounts of the state Balibar Abensour philosophical and anthropological anarchism Wolff Malabou Graeber Scott critical legal theory analyses of Marbury v Madison as well as Dobbs v Jackson continental and analytic versions and critiques of foundationalism Heidegger Lyotard and Butler Quine Searle and Fine and political and sociological abolitionism Lewis O'Brien At a time when some call for strengthening institutions and for Livingstone, David Guile, 2012-09-07 This book presents some of the most trenchant critical analyses of the widespread claims for the recent emergence of a knowledge economy and the attendant need for greater lifelong learning. The book contains two sections: first, general critiques of the limits of current notions of a knowledge economy and required adult learning in terms of historical comparisons; socio-political construction and current empirical evidence; secondly, specific challenges to presumed relations between work requirements and learning through case studies in diverse current workplaces that document richer learning processes than knowledge economy advocates intimate. Many of the leading authors in the field are represented. There are no other books to date that both critically assess the limits of the notion of the knowledge economy and examine closely the relation of workplace restructuring to lifelong learning beyond the confines of formal higher education and related educational policies. This reader provides a distinctive overview for future studies of relations between work and learning in contemporary societies beyond caricatures of the knowledge economy. The book should be of interest to students following undergraduate or postgraduate courses in most social sciences and education, business and labour studies departments as well as to policy makers and the general public concerned about economic change and lifelong learning issues. D.W. Livingstone is Canada Research Chair in Lifelong Learning and Work and Professor Emeritus at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education, University of Toronto. David Guile is Professor of Education and Work at the Institute of Education, University of London.
