Who can tell where Roald Dahl got his ideas from? Perhaps some have their roots in the remarkable things that happened to the writer as a boy and as a young man. "I have never been able to get some of them out of my mind," said Dahl of these incidents. "Some are funny. Some are painful. Some are unpleasant. I suppose that is why I have always remembered them so vividly. All are true."

Hilariously true are the details of the Great Mouse Plot of 1924, when an eight-year-old Dahl and his gobstopper-loving friends took a just revenge on the disgusting sweetshop owner, Mrs Pratchett. All too true were the deaths of Dahl's father and sister within the space of a few short weeks, the canings by Headmasters and older schoolboys, the grisly methods of Matron, and the motor-car ride which nearly lost Roald Dahl his nose. There were glorious times too, with his family at home in Wales; on holiday each summer on a remote island in Norway, "one of the greatest places on earth", and in the class of an endearing maths teacher who thought figures the dreariest things in the world.
