Marta I. Acosta Vélez, 2006 Wavefront guided LASIK is a promising new technology that provides an advanced method for measuring optical distortions in the eye. Measuring and treating these distortions goes beyond nearsighted, farsighted, and astigmatism determinations that have been used for centuries. As a result, physicians can now customize the LASIK procedure according to each patient's vision needs. The treatment is unique to each eye just as a fingerprint is unique. Wavefront systems work by measuring how light is distorted as it passes into the eye and then is reflected back. This creates an optical map of the eye highlighting individual imperfections, correcting it, and providing a Super Vision. Wavefront Customized Visual Correction
