Leu, California State University, Sacramento, 2010 A balanced curriculum in elementary schools has been a topic of controversy for many decades The standards based reform movement evolved out of this controversy Standards based reform was designed to measure students academic achievement by mandating that states implement accountability through annual assessments Then in 2002 with the enactment of the No Child Left Behind Act NCLB accountability transferred from a state wide issue to a federal issue With NCLB states are now mandated to annually assess elementary students nationwide in grades second through sixth in the content areas of reading language arts and mathematics There have been several negative effects on the elementary curriculum as a result of these mandated assessments which among others include an unbalanced curriculum and teachers being pressured into making decisions to allot more time for teaching the assessed content areas and less time for teaching the non assessed content areas history social science art and physical education Concentrating on history social science in particular research has shown that history social science is not only being taught less but is being eliminated in many elementary schools throughout the United States The result of eliminating history social science is an unbalanced curriculum which is unfair to students and teachers alike Curriculum integration is a reasonable solution My curriculum guide addresses the need for a balanced curriculum by integrating history social science and reading Project The curriculum guide is designed for the fourth grade teachers at Gold Oak Elementary Placerville CA who use the district adopted Scott Foresman History Social Science program Our California in conjunction with the Open Court program Open Court Reading Level 4 It encourages fourth grade teachers to include history social science standards in their curriculum while they teach the mandated reading writing and oral language standards The curriculum guide provides fourth grade teachers with integrated history social science and reading
