Collection Data Historian Jerry Report:

Digitised Newspapers - A New Eldorado for Historians? Estelle Bunout, Maud Ehrmann, Frédéric Clavert, 2022-12-31
The application of digital technologies to historical newspapers has changed the research landscape historians were used to. An Eldorado. Despite undeniable advantages the new digital affordance of historical newspapers also transforms research practices and confronts historians with new challenges. Drawing on a growing community of practices the impresso project invited scholars experienced with digitised newspaper collections with the aim of encouraging a discussion on heuristics, source criticism and interpretation of digitized newspapers. This volume provides a snapshot of current research on the subject and offers three perspectives: how digitisation is transforming access to and exploration of historical newspaper collections; how automatic content processing allows for the creation of new layers of information; and finally what analyses this enhanced material opens up. impresso. Media Monitoring of the Past is an interdisciplinary research project that applies text mining tools to digitised historical newspapers and integrates the resulting data into historical research workflows by means of a newly developed user interface. The question of how best to adapt text mining tools and their use by humanities researchers is at the heart of the impresso enterprise.

The Ghost Forest Greg King, 2023-06-06
The definitive story of the California redwoods, their discovery and their exploitation as told by an activist who fought to protect their existence against those determined to cut them down. Every year millions of tourists from around the world visit California's famous redwoods. Yet few who strain their necks to glimpse the tops of the world's tallest trees understand how unlikely it is that these last isolated groves of giant trees still stand at all. In this gripping historical memoir, journalist and famed redwood activist Greg King examines how investors and a growing U.S. economy drove the timber industry to cut down all but 4 percent of the original two million acre redwood ecosystem. King first examined redwood logging in the 1980s as an award-winning reporter. What he found in the woods convinced him to leap the line of neutrality and become an activist dedicated to saving the very last ancient redwood groves remaining in private hands. The land grab began in 1849 when a green gold rush of migrants came to exploit the legendary redwoods that grew along the Russian River. Several generations later, in 1987, Greg King discovered and named Headwaters Forest at 3,000 acres, the largest ancient redwood habitat remaining outside of parks, and he led the movement to save this grove. After a decade of one of the longest, most dramatic and violent environmental campaigns in U.S. history, in 1999 the state and federal governments protected Headwaters Forest. The Ghost Forest explores a central question, an overhanging mystery: What was it like, this botanical Elysium that grew only along the Northern California coast, a forest so spectacular but also uniquely valuable as a cornerstone of American economic growth that in the end it would inspire life and death struggles? Few but loggers and surveyors ever saw such magnificent trees.

ancient sentinels that like ghosts have informed King's understanding of the world On a lifelong journey King finds himself through the generations and through the trees A Next Big Idea Club Must Read Title California Historian, 1962 Resources in Education, 1998 The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, 1907 Beginning in 1924 Proceedings are incorporated into the Apr no Daily Labor Report, 2005-11 Shale Shaker, 1964 Guide to Railroad Historical Resources, United States and Canada, 1993 Corporation Annual Reports to Shareholders, 1976 Public Works, 1978 Archaeological Investigations at Nonhabitation and Burial Sites Chief Joseph Dam Project, Washington Sarah K.
