

Collision Theory - answers

Fill in the blanks using each of the words once.

energy	collide	catalyst	concentration	collision theory
--------	---------	----------	---------------	------------------

Particles can only react if they collide with enough energy for the reaction to take place. This is called the collision theory. There are four factors that can change the rate of a reaction; temperature, concentration, surface area and the use of a suitable catalyst.

Fill in the blanks in the text and complete the diagrams below using the words below.

moderate	fast	faster	energy	surface area
lower	fast	slow	low concentration	fast
lower	more often	collision	successful	area
particles	faster	catalyst present	high concentration	large surface area

Temperature

Increasing the temperature will cause the particles to move fast with more energy. They will therefore collide more often and with greater energy. These two things mean there are more successful collisions per second and therefore a faster rate of reaction.

Concentration

Increasing the concentration of a reactant simply means there are more particles which may collide and so react. More collisions means a faster reaction.

Surface Area

Using a powder instead of a lump means surface area is greater, which means a greater area of reactant is exposed and so available for a collision. More collisions means a faster reaction.

Catalysts

Use of a suitable catalyst means that the particles may react even if they collide with only moderate energy. This means more successful collisions are likely. Some catalysts work because one of the particles is fixed to a surface. This makes the chance of a collision more likely. More collisions means a faster reaction.
