

4 Types of Budgeting Methods

Incremental Budgeting

Incremental budgeting is one of the simplest and most widely used methods. Essentially, it involves taking the previous year's budget and adjusting it slightly—either adding or subtracting a fixed percentage based on projected needs or goals.

Activity-Based Budgeting

Rather than starting from last year's numbers, ABB focuses on specific activities that drive costs. In this method, budgets are built around the cost of performing these key activities, giving a clearer link between expenses and organizational goals.

Zero-Based Budgeting

Zero-Based Budgeting (ZBB) turns the traditional budgeting process upside down. Instead of just tweaking the old budget, ZBB asks you to justify every single expense from the ground up for each new period. Essentially, every dollar needs to earn its place in the budget.

Value Proposition Budgeting

Value Proposition Budgeting prioritizes expenditures based on the value they deliver to customers. In this method, budget items are included based on their potential to create customer value, improve satisfaction, or drive long-term loyalty.

Preparatory Excavation Works in Mines (Volume I) Prof. Dr. Bilal Semih Bozdemir, Methodology The project utilized down the hole DTH drilling techniques due to the steep slopes and limited access to machinery Blast designs were customized to ensure stability while avoiding excessive disturbance to the surrounding environment A combination of emulsion and water gel explosives was used to ensure safety and effectiveness in the challenging conditions Challenges One of the most prominent challenges was the unpredictability of rock conditions which necessitated ongoing assessments and adjustments to the drilling and blasting parameters Furthermore the environmental protocol required strict adherence to minimize impact on local fauna and flora Results The successful completion of the pipeline installation not only fulfilled the project timeline but also maintained compliance with environmental standards This case underscores the necessity of adaptive management strategies in drilling and blasting particularly in sensitive environments where both safety and ecological considerations are paramount Management Review ,1928 Has supplements National Association of Corporation Training.
