Theory and Practice in Educational Administration William George Walker,1970      14th International Symposium on Theory and Practice in Transport Economics European Conference of Ministers of Transport,1999-03-26 Will the next century see the private sector become more involved in decisions regarding the construction and funding of infrastructure Which technologies will dominate the transport market Where will new markets emerge Will transport still have a social role to play What safeguards will there be for the environment Will there still be a role even for the authorities The list of the questions that transport will pose in the next century is certainly both long and diverse reflecting as it does the problems now confronting the sector The aim of the 14th Symposium was to take an initial look at what the future might hold by means of 13 introductory reports drafted by rapporteurs from 11 different countries and a debate between leading experts in the transport field This publication goes over the introductory reports and faithfully reflects the substance of the Symposium discussions By considering the shape of things to come this review defines the challenges awaiting all those concerned with transport and the solutions open to them      The Theory and Practice of Local Governance and Economic Development Mark Considine,Sylvain Giguere,2008-02-14 One of the key issues for the prosperity of our societies in a globalised economy is to connect public policies together to achieve maximum results Policy makers and practitioners in key public and private agencies need to learn how to collaborate to create joint decision processes to evaluate the effects of new governance partnerships and to become more efficient in the use of engagement tools This book develops a conceptual map for this new area of practice and provides leading cases from different OECD countries to help practitioners plan for this form of innovation

F. Ward,1989 Institute Irrigation Studies 25 jaar      Optimization Models Using Fuzzy Sets and Possibility Theory J. Kacprzyk,S.A. Orlovski,2013-11-11 Optimization is of central concern to a number of disciplines Operations Research and Decision Theory are often considered to be identical with optimization But also in other areas such as engineering design regional policy logistics and many others the search for optimal solutions is one of the prime goals The methods and models which have been used over the last decades in these areas have primarily been hard or crisp i.e. the solutions were considered to be either feasible or unfeasible either above a certain aspiration level or below This dichotomous structure of methods very often forced the modeller to approximate real problem situations of the more or less type by yes or no type models the solutions of which might turn out not to be the solutions to the real problems This is particularly true if the problem under consideration includes vaguely defined relationships human evaluations uncertainty due to inconsistent or incomplete evidence if natural language has to be modelled or if state variables can only be described approximately Until recently everything which was not known with certainty i.e. which was not known to be either true or false or which was not known to either happen with certainty or to be impossible to occur was modelled by means of probabilities This holds in particular for uncertainties concerning the occurrence of events
