|-----------------|---|
| behavior | the way someone, including humans, acts in certain situations |
| adapt | change to fit or survive in a new setting or situation |
| immunity | the ability of an organism to fight off an illness |
| produce | fruits and vegetables |
| minerals | solid, inorganic materials such as salt or sulfur that usually form under the ground and do not come from living things |

Pesticides are chemicals made to kill insects and other pests. Farmers use them in order to protect their crops from damage. Without pesticides, farmers wouldn't be able to grow as much food as they do. However, pesticides aren't only good to crops. They cause problems for people, too. They've found evidence of these foods without insecticides, fruits and vegetables.

ten years or less. As a result, pesticide companies constantly make new chemicals to replace old ones that no longer work. Scientists don't keep up in understanding how pesticides affect health. By the time they study one chemical, a new one has replaced it.

One thing scientists do know is that in large enough amounts, pesticides can make people very sick. Some studies show that pesticides may cause issues with immunity. Your immunity keeps people less able to fight off illness. Pesticides may also lead to diseases that affect the brain. Some chemicals in pesticides can cause cancer. Both farmers and farm workers who work crops are at high risk for these health problems. People who live near farms are also at risk.

Kids with high amounts of pesticides in their bodies are more likely to get out and have trouble paying attention. They may also develop asthma. This condition makes it harder to breathe. Because children are still growing, they have a higher risk of being affected by pesticides than adults.

It's unlikely that large farms will stop using pesticides anytime soon.

However, people can take steps to protect themselves from these harmful chemicals.

One solution is to wash produce carefully. Water is usually enough to clean fruits and vegetables. However, some foods with tough

Farm workers wear safety gear as they spray crops with pesticides.

Eating fruits and vegetables every day is important for your health.
