
DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE TEST EXAM NEW PRACTICE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS COMPLETE GUIDE

In general, why was the Declaration of Independence written? - ANS The Declaration of Independence was written so the thirteen colonies could declare that they were free from Britain and an independent country.

What basic rights does the document claim individuals have? - ANS Some basic rights the document claims individuals have are that all men are created equal, we all were born with unalienable rights, and among these rights are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

According to the document, why do the colonists have the right to declare independence? - ANS According to the document, the colonists have the right to declare independence because the king has refused to assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good, it was their right, their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security.

According to the colonists, how has the King responded to their grievances? - ANS According to the colonists, the king has responded to their grievances with only repeated injury.

What risks did the colonists take by writing this? - ANS The colonists risked their lives by writing this document because each of the representatives signed their names on the paper. When the king read the document he could hunt down all the people who signed the document, to hang them. Since these colonists were representatives for each of the colonies all of the colonies could get punished too.

What colonial actions were omitted, or not mentioned, in this document? Why did the colonists choose to omit some colonial actions in the document? - ANS The colonial actions that were not mentioned in this document were the end to slave trade and the expansion of women's rights. The representatives could not agree on these two issues therefore they were omitted from the Declaration.

What was the purpose of the Declaration of Independence? Why is this document still significant today? - ANS The purpose of the Declaration of the Independence was so that the colonies could claim to the king that they were the free United States of America. This document is still significant today because it marked the first time we claimed independence from the king and we still use this document as a reference for many things today.
