Blood and Marrow Transplantation Long Term Management Bipin N. Savani,Andre Tichelli,2021-03-02 Blood and Marrow Transplantation Long Term Management Hematopoietic cell transplantation HCT provides curative therapy for a variety of diseases Over the past several decades significant advances have been made in the field of HCT to the point where HCT has become an integral part of treatment modality for a variety of hematologic malignancies and some nonmalignant diseases HCT remains an important treatment option for a wide variety of hematologic and nonhematologic disorders despite recent advances in the field of immunologic therapies Factors driving this growth include expanded disease indications greater donor options expanding unrelated donor registries and haploidentical HCT and accommodation of older and less fit recipients The development of less toxic pretransplant conditioning regimens more effective prophylaxis of graft versus host disease GVHD improved infection control and other advances in transplant technology have resulted in a rapidly growing number of transplant recipients surviving long term free of the disease for which they were transplanted The changes over decades in the transplant recipient population and in the practice of HCT will have almost inevitably altered the composition of the long term survivor population over time Apart from an increasingly older transplant recipient cohort the pattern of transplant indications has shifted from the 1990s when chronic myeloid leukemia made up a significant proportion of allo HCT indications Changes in cell source donor types conditioning regimens GVHD prophylaxis and supportive care have all occurred with ongoing reductions in both relapse and non relapse mortality NRM have been demonstrated These patients have increased risks for a variety of late complications which can cause morbidity and mortality Most long term survivors return to the care of their local hematologists oncologists or primary care physicians who may not be familiar with specialized monitoring and management of long complications after HCT for this patient population As HCT survivorship increases the focus of care has shifted to the identification and treatment of long term complications that may affect quality of life and long term morbidity and mortality Preventive care as well as early detection and treatments are important aspects to reducing morbidity and mortality in long term survivors after allo HCT This second edition Blood and Marrow Transplantation Long Term Management Survivorship after Transplant provides up to date information about diagnosis screening treatment and long term surveillance of long term survivors after HCT

The Joyful Freedom Approach to Cancer-Related Fatigue Marilynne N. Kirshbaum, 2021-06-25 The book introduces The Joyful Freedom Approach as a strategy for recovery from fatigue It was initially developed through a series of research studies inspired initially by women who had breast cancer and were troubled by ongoing cancer related fatigue The integrated holistic approach has scope for supporting individuals who have experienced energy depletion not just due to cancer and its treatments but also in relation to other illnesses conditions or distressing life events The approach is aimed at helping people to discover what they can do to energise their lives following an event such as cancer that has left them lacking vitality wellness or a sense of direction and clarity about how to live life fully Research has culminated in identifying five attributes of energy restorative activities these are represented by the Energy Restoration Framework The attributes of Purposeful Expanding Connecting Belonging Awe inspiring and Nourishing act as headings for discussion planning and integration into an individual's recovery and beyond The book is organised into three parts and subdivided into chapters Part One contains the chapters of The Inspiration The Challenge and the Resolution These first chapters offer the reader a gateway to the Joyful Freedom Approach starting with a narrative that starts from nursing practice and discovering energy fields through to the foundations and detail surrounding evidence based research on cancer related fatigue and possible interventions Part Two consists of chapters that serve to place the energy creating framework in context Philosophy and

Theory Evidence for Change and Research in Practice Here the influential Attention Restorative Theory of Professor Stephen Kaplan an environmental psychologist is introduced The discussion then progresses onto the adaptation of Kaplan s theory to the cancer care and illness context Part Three provides an overview and representation of The Energy Restoration Framework leading to the emergence of the Joyful Freedom Approach The book concludes with a discussion of how theory and practice can be brought together and applied using The Joyful Freedom Approach The book is aimed at health care practitioners who are engaged with counselling people through distressing life events This would include nurses medical doctors social workers or occupational therapists who work with individuals who are recovering from illnesses or surgery or mental health practitioners who help their clients to regain control and navigate through distressing life events The book offers practitioners and therapists an evidenced based template that is versatile and adaptable to meet the needs of a varied range of clients

02 - CANCER-RELATED FATIGUE IN AMBULATORY SPECIALIST CLINICS - SCREENING IMPLICATIONS Linda Denehy,2017 Cancer fatigue guidelines recommend routine fatigue screening There is currently neither a gold standard nor a broadly accepted screening method and the impact of screening on care processes is poorly understood The aims were to estimate the extent of fatigue in outpatients at a specialist cancer hospital and evaluate acceptability of screening methods MethodsHospital outpatients attending cancer clinics completed a 5 item paper based survey a 0 10 numeric rating scale for current tiredness two five point pictorial scales rating tiredness last week and the impact of fatigue Fatigue Pictogram preferred screening tool and help needed Demographics and documentation of fatigue for the clinic encounter on the day of survey completion and the following week were extracted via medical record audit ResultsOf 1709 outpatients attending all clinics during one week 533 31% completed the survey Records were audited for 429 81% participants who made their surveys identifiable Severe fatigue was reported for at least one question by 166 people 39% Tiredness was reported as moderate or severe u2018nowu2019 by 57% and u2018last weeku2019 by 53% of participants Fatigue had a major impact on daily activities for 24% of participants yet was seldom recorded in clinical notes 38% of participants rated their fatigue in different categories at 2 time points ConclusionsOver half of cancer outpatients may be experiencing moderate to severe fatigue The Fatigue Pictogram a scale with defined categories is acceptable to patients Fatigue screening using a recall period of the u2018last weeku2019 may produce stable results for determining care pathways
