Young People and the Politics of Outrage and Hope, 2018-11-26 Young People and the Politics of Outrage and Hope brings together contributions from international youth studies experts who ask how young people and institutions are responding to high levels of unemployment student debt housing costs that lock many out of home ownership and the challenge to find meaningful modes of participation in neo liberal social contexts Contributors including Henry Giroux Anita Harris and Judith Bessant draw on a range of theoretical methodological and empirical work to identify and debate some of the challenges and opportunities of the politics of outrage and hope that should accompany academic community and political discussions about the futures that young people will inherit and make Young People and the Politics of Outrage and Hope is now available in paperback for individual customers

Politics, Protest and Young People Sarah Pickard, 2019-06-07 Sarah Pickard offers a detailed and wide ranging assessment of electoral and non electoral political participation of young people in contemporary Britain drawing on perspectives and insights from youth studies political science and political sociology This comprehensive book enquires into the approaches used by the social sciences to understand young people s politics and documents youth led evolutions in political behaviour After unpicking key concepts including political participation generations the political life cycle and the youth vote Pickard draws on a combination of quantitative and qualitative research to trace the dynamics operating in electoral political participation since the 1960s This includes the relationship between political parties politicians and young people youth and student wings of political parties electoral behaviour and the lowering of the voting age to 16 Pickard goes on to discuss personalised engagement through what she calls young people s DIO Do It Ourselves political participation in online and offline connected collectives The book then explores young people s political dissent as part of a global youth led wave of protest This holistic book will appeal to anyone with an interest in young people politics protest and political change

Making-Up People: Youth, Truth and Politics Judith Bessant, 2020-12-30 This book is about modern politics and young people Judith Bessant revises some long standing myths about children and young people s politics She highlights the huge gap between the many ways young people and politics are talked about and how they have long been politically active Bessant draws on a relational historical sociology to show how since the nineteenth century certain historical dynamics political interests and social imaginaries have enabled social scientists writers political leaders and policymakers to imagine and make up different kinds of young people Given these representations of childhood adolescence and youth everyone knows that young people are cognitively immature inexperienced morally under developed and lack good judgement For these reasons they cannot possibly be allowed to engage in the serious grown up business of politics Yet in just one of the many contradictions young people are criticised by many of their elders for being politically apathetic and disengaged from politics Many think recent global warming movements largely led by quite young people are a novel phenomenon Yet young people have been at the forefront of political movements of all kinds since the French Revolution Since the 1960s children and young people increasingly played a major if sometimes obscured role in civil rights anti war anti globalisation anti austerity and global warming movements This accessible book is rich in theoretical and historical insight that is sure to appeal to sociologists historians youth studies scholars and political scientists as well as to the general reader
