Handbook of the Economics of Education Eric A. Hanushek, F. Welch, 2006-10-30 The Handbooks in Economics series continues to provide the various branches of economics with handbooks which are definitive reference sources suitable for use by professional researchers advanced graduate students or by those seeking a teaching supplement With contributions from leading researchers each Handbook presents an accurate self contained survey of the current state of the topic under examination These surveys summarize the most recent discussions in journals and elucidate new developments Although original material is also included the main aim of this series is the provision of comprehensive and accessible surveys Every volume contains contributions from leading researchers Each Handbook presents an accurate self contained survey of a particular topic The series provides comprehensive and accessible surveys

Handbook on the Economics of Discrimination William M. Rodgers, 2009-01-01 The papers contained in the first part of the book are particularly valuable as a primer for researchers interested in economic discrimination On this basis alone this book is recommended for researchers seeking an overview of current techniques for assessing economic discrimination The final section nicely highlights both the importance in understanding the interaction of policy and economic discrimination and the difficulties in isolating policy effects Education Economics Editor Rodgers has compiled a very useful book that summarizes the current state of the literature on economic discrimination This reviewer learned something new and interesting in every chapter and particularly appreciated the clear survey of the age discrimination literature This book will be of value to academics and to those in the legal arena Highly recommended J P Jacobsen Choice Discrimination's dynamic nature means that no single theory method data or study should be relied upon to assess its magnitude causes or remedies Despite some gains in our understanding these remain active areas of debate among researchers practitioners and policymakers The specially commissioned papers in this volume all by distinguished contributors present the full range of issues related to this complex and challenging problem Part 1 explores innovations in methods and data collection that help to provide richer descriptions of inequality Part 2 reviews empirical evidence on discrimination that people with disabilities older workers and gay lesbian and bisexual individuals face Although discrimination among these groups is not new this Handbook shows that economists are beginning to more fully document their experiences Part 3 presents a balanced discussion of anti discrimination policies and the impact of affirmative action The methods and data chapters are particularly designed to encourage researchers to utilize the new approaches and develop new data sources Accessible and comprehensive the Handbook is the seminal reference on the economics of discrimination for academic and professional economists graduate students advanced undergraduates practitioners policymakers and funders of social science research
