Encyclopedia of Health Economics, 2014-02-21 The Encyclopedia of Health Economics offers students researchers and policymakers objective and detailed empirical analysis and clear reviews of current theories and policies. It helps practitioners such as health care managers and planners by providing accessible overviews into the broad field of health economics including the economics of designing health service finance and delivery and the economics of public and population health. This encyclopedia provides an organized overview of this diverse field providing one trusted source for up to date research and analysis of this highly charged and fast moving subject area. Features research driven articles that are objective better crafted and more detailed than is currently available in journals and handbooks. Combines insights and scholarship across the breadth of health economics where theory and empirical work increasingly come from non economists. Provides overviews of key policies theories and programs in easy to understand language.

Economic and Social Survey of Asia and the Pacific 2013 United Nations, 2013. This document provides a review of the region's performance in 2012 and its outlook in 2013 as it recovers from the global economic crisis and assesses the region's policy response to remaining and emerging vulnerabilities. Areas of economic and social policy analysed include growth inflation trade and investment financial markets employment migration and remittances. Key challenges ahead are addressed and policy responses recommended for countries in order to sustain their development. The document also addresses a thematic issue discussing the current approach of macroeconomic policy making and critically assessing whether it has served development adequately.

OECD Economic Surveys, 2012. Indian Journal of Economics, 2019. 2020 Council of Europe, 2014. Perspectives on youth is a new series published by the partnership between the European Commission and the Council of Europe in the field of youth with the support of five countries Belgium Finland France Germany and the United Kingdom and the Nordic Council of Ministers. Its purpose is to bring national youth policies closer together and to keep the largely European dialogue about key problems of national and supranational child and youth policy on a solid foundation in terms of content expertise and politics. The series aims to act as a forum for information discussion reflection and dialogue on European developments in the field of youth policy youth research and youth work. The conceptual strategy behind this series is meant to be critical and anticipative reflecting European youth policies and their relevance for and impact on young people. It also highlights trends in the youth field that need innovative and forward looking strategies. The series aims to contribute to the development and promotion of a youth policy and of a youth work practice that is based on knowledge as well as participatory principles.
