

Both poets use formal structure in their poems to convey their differing perspectives on the month of May. 'The Month of May' is a villanelle consisting of 19 lines of five tercets and a quatrain; there are two refrains and two repeated rhymes and "The month of May" is repeated throughout the poem to emphasise the joy that the month brings each year. Parentheses are also used to provide an aside when the poet talks directly to the reader in a relaxed and humorous way: "(Tried to be modern but it didn't last)". This reflects the speaker's joy and sense of ease when thinking about May. In contrast, 'British Weather' is written in three quatrains, each one consisting of two pairs of rhyming couplets. The poem is written in one sentence, punctuated with commas and a dash, and this is used to convey the poet's spontaneous trail of negative thoughts about the month and the weather. This use of one long continuous sentence could also reflect the speaker's ideas about how the month of May seems incredibly dull and never-ending.
