highly of him nor had been able to find out even by inference what were his Views The Church had been low during the last rector s reign profoundly low lost in the deepest abysses of Evangelicalism A determined inclination to preach to everybody had seized upon that good man s brain he had half emptied Salem Chapel there could be no doubt but on the other hand he had more than half filled the Chapel of St Roque half a mile out of Carlingford where the perpetual curate young handsome and fervid was on the very topmost pinnacle of Anglicanism St Roque s was not more than a pleasant walk from the best quarter of Carlingford on the north side of the town thank heaven About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Rector and The Doctor's Family Margaret Oliphant,2020-04 It is natural to suppose that the arrival of the new Rector was a rather exciting event for Carlingford It is a considerable town it is true nowadays but then there are no alien activities to disturb the place no manufactures and not much trade And there is a very respectable amount of very good society at Carlingford To begin with it is a pretty place mild sheltered not far from town and naturally its very reputation for good society increases the amount of that much prized article The advantages of the town in this respect have already put five per cent upon the house rents but this of course only refers to the real town where you can go through an entire street of high gardenwalls with houses inside full of the retired exclusive comforts the dainty economical refinement peculiar to such places and where the good people consider their own society as a warrant of gentility less splendid but not less assured than the favour of Majesty itself Naturally there are no Dissenters in Carlingford that is to say none above the rank of a greengrocer or milkman and in bosoms devoted to the Church it may be well imagined that the advent of the new Rector was an event full of importance and even of excitement

Oliphant,2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1863 edition Excerpt show faintly in the lengthening days spring that so often belies itself and comes with a serpent s tooth Dr Eider on that particular clay had met Dr Marjoribanks at some meeting convened in the interests of Carlingford The old physician had been very gracious and cordial to the young one had spoken of his own declining health of his possible retirement of the excellent prospects which a rising young man in their profession had in Carlingford and finally had asked Dr Eider to go with him next day to see an interesting patient and advise as to the treatment of the case The young doctor was more pleased than he could or would have told any one and with a natural impulse seized the earliest moment to direct his steps towards St Eoque s It was twilight when Dr Edward went down the long and rather tiresome line of Grange Lane These gardenwalls so delicious in their bowery retirements within were not interesting outside to the pedestrian But the doctor s attention was so speedily riveted on two figures eagerly talking near Mr Wodehouse s garden door that the long sweep of wall seemed but a single step to him as he hurried along These two figures were unquestionably Nettie for one and Mr Wentworth for another Handsome young coxcomb with all his Puseyitical pretences Was Lucy Wodehouse not enough for him that he must have Nettie too Dr Eider hurried forward to interrupt that meeting He was actually turning with her walking slowly back again the very way he had just come Edward s blood boiled in his impatient veins He swept along in a whirlwind of sudden wrath When he came up to them Nettie was talking low and the curate s lofty head was bent to hear her in a manner which it is probable Lucy Wodehouse would no
