Basic Education Statistics In Tanzania 2011:

Mathematics Education in East Africa Anjum Halai, Geoff Tennant, 2016-03-08 This Open Access book is a valuable resource for policymakers and practitioners as it brings insights mainly from developing countries where relatively less research activity takes place. It is also a valuable resource for courses in mathematics education in the teacher education colleges and departments of education in the sub-Saharan Africa region. In the increasingly global and technological world, mathematics is seen as a significant gatekeeper of opportunities for social and economic advancement and mobility. Hence, countries and development agencies in the broader sub-Saharan Africa region are looking towards increasing access to relevant and high quality secondary education as a lever towards economic development. Policy makers and other key decision makers in education look towards improvement in mathematics teaching and learning as a key focus in education reform. In the East Africa region, also, a number of initiatives have been taken at the national level in the respective countries to improve the quality of mathematics education. This book provides an in-depth comparative analysis of the developments and issues in mathematics education in Kenya, Tanzania, Rwanda, and Uganda and advances our understanding of the state of secondary mathematics education in East Africa. Primary Education Development Programme II (2007-2011), 2006

Learner-Centred Pedagogy in the Global South Nozomi Sakata, 2022-10-21 Learner Centred Pedagogy in the Global South: Pupils and Teachers' Experiences shines light on learner-centred pedagogy (LCP) which has gained popularity within global and national governments, albeit resulting in puzzling and inconsequential appropriation. Nozomi Sakata draws on award-winning research on learner-centred pedagogy conducted in Tanzania that looks to shift the focus from teachers and teaching to students and learning. The recent spread of LCP through global policy discourse meets Tanzania's historical and contemporary in-compatibility in local schools. The book explores how pupils' perceived classroom experiences are formed through pedagogical elements beyond the classroom. It also enquires into how observable LCP activities and/or pupils' perceptions of classroom practices relate to their academic performance and learning attitudes. The book highlights the multidimensionality of pedagogy and the need to consider multiple viewpoints from both teachers and pupils and to consider the historical and socio-cultural contexts in any pedagogical research. This book will be of value to researchers and students interested in pedagogy, policy transfer, and education reforms in the global South. The Chapters 5, 6, and 8 of this book are available for free in PDF format as Open Access from the individual product page at www.routledge.com. It has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license. Implementation of the Millennium Development Goals Nicholas Awortwi, Herman Musahara, 2016-06-13 In September 2000, world leaders from 189 countries, including 147 Heads of State, gathered at the United Nations General Assembly to consider the challenges of the new millennium. They adopted the Millennium Declaration, which set out a vision for inclusive and sustainable globalization. UN 2000 A RES 55/2. The leaders pledged to work towards ensuring that conditions of extreme poverty are eradicated wherever they existed To actualise this declaration the UN established eight Millennium Development Goals MDGs to be achieved by 2015 The goals were broken down into 18 concrete targets and 48 indicators to track progresses in implementation For the past 14 years thereafter countries in sub Saharan Africa have been striving to achieve the goals So far some have achieved some of the goals and the results toward the rest of the goals are also by and large positive though off target This book brings together results of studies on progresses and challenges in the implementation of the MDGs in Lesotho Kenya Botswana Madagascar Tanzania Ghana Uganda and Nigeria The authors focus on selected goals as cases The book also presents lessons that can inform the post 2015 development agenda

Indigenous Discourses on Knowledge and Development in Africa Edward Shizha, Ali A. Abdi, 2013-12-04 African social development is often explained from outsider perspectives that are mainly European and Euro American leaving African indigenous discourses and ways of knowing and doing absent from discussions and debates on knowledge and development This book is intended to present Africanist indigenous voices in current debates on economic educational political and social development in Africa The authors and contributors to the volume present bold and timely ideas and scholarship for defining Africa through its challenges possible policy formations planning and implementation at the local regional and national levels The book also reveals insightful examinations of the hype the myths and the realities of many topics of concern with respect to dominant development discourses and challenges the misconceptions and misrepresentations of indigenous perspectives on knowledge productions and overall social well being or lack thereof The volume brings together researchers who are concerned with comparative education international development and African development research and practice in particular Policy makers institutional planners education specialists governmental and non governmental managers and the wider public should all benefit from the contents and analyses of this book

Preparing the Next Generation in Tanzania Arun R. Joshi, Isis Gaddis, 2015-06-19 Tanzania aims to reach middle income status by 2025 Since the country s economic growth will increasingly require workforce with postsecondary training and skills the education system needs to close systemic gaps and inefficiencies at the root of its current underperformance
