Ahlberg,2008 Kristin Ahlberg traces the transformation of Public Law 480 from a means of liquidating domestic surplus into a vital component of U S foreign policy She focuses on how Lyndon Johnson sought to re create his Great Society reforms on a global scale by exporting programs designed to improve the lives of world citizens through combating food shortages and how he also wielded Food for Peace as a diplomatic tool to gain support for U S policies and to reward or punish allies for their behavior Ahlberg draws on recently declassified sources to show how the Johnson administration used Food for Peace to win diplomatic support for American policy in Vietnam prevent nuclear proliferation on the Indian subcontinent and uphold Israeli security Transplanting the Great Society is an insightful study that shows the successes and limitations of using food aid as a diplomatic tool during the middle period of the Cold War It paints a broader picture of Johnson s foreign policies opening a new window on both his administration and postwar diplomatic history BOOK JACKET
