Binocular Basics

WARNING 1

Never use digital camera binocular to look at the sun! Looking at or near the sun will cause instant and irreparable damage to your eye. Eye damage is often painless, so there is no warning to the observer that damage has occurred until it is too late. Do not point the binocular at or near the sun. Children should always have adult supervision while observing.

Adjustment of eye-relief for eyeglass wearers

Fold down the rubber eyepieces and place them against your glasses to get the best viewing result.

Adjusting the eyepieces

The distance between your eyes is called inter pupillary distance. The inter pupillary distance is different from one person to another. It is important to adjust to your inter pupillary distance before using your digital camera binocular.

- Hold digital camera binocular firmly in the normal viewing position.
- Adjust the barrels by pushing together or pulling apart until you see a single circle field with both of your eyes.

Focusing the Binocular

These binoculars have individual focus system which means the focusing knob is located individually in each eyepiece. Focus the left eyepiece to your left eye and the right eyepiece to your right eye.

- Look at something in the distance. Close the right eye (or cover the front of the right binocular), and focus the left eyepiece to your left eye until the image is clear.
- Close the left eye (or cover the front of the left binocular), and focus the right eyepiece to your right eye until the image is clear.
- Adjust each eyepiece as necessary.
- When looking at a different image you need to repeat this process.
