

THE COLD WAR IN EUROPE

COLD WAR

The Cold War began soon after World War II ended. It was a struggle between the Western Bloc nations, led by the United States and the Eastern Bloc nations led by the Soviet Union (formerly Russia). The Cold War was not really a war in which there was fighting. It was a war to see if Communism or Democracy would control the world. Weapons were propaganda, competitions (including sports, such as the Olympic games) and diplomacy. Sometimes there were small military actions.

When World War II ended, the Soviet Union occupied Eastern Europe. Countries controlled by the Soviet Union were called satellites. The Soviet Union, under the rule of Josef Stalin, had control of these countries because the Soviets "liberated" these countries when they were fighting Nazi Germany.

When did the Cold War begin?

Why isn't the Cold War really considered a war?

Why is the word "liberated" in quotations in the reading?
