

Chapter 24 Reading Guide: Industrialization and Imperialism: The Making of the European Global Order

Chapter Summary. Western European industrialization fundamentally altered the nature of European overseas expansion. In previous times, Europeans sought desired material goods or moved against threats from external enemies. Industrialization brought new motives for expansion. Raw materials were needed to fuel industrial growth, and markets were required for its manufacturing production. Christian missionaries sought converts, but private initiative replaced state direction. Another change was that the increased power of the West made it fear European imperial rivalries more than indigenous opposition. Europeans had gained the capacity to push into and occupy territories once closed to them by disease or local resistance.

What did Europe need now?

What was the change in missionary outreach from earlier expansion to now?

Now that Europe didn't fear the Ottomans, who were the Europeans in competition with?

What allowed Europeans to penetrate inland in areas they had not been able to previously?
