Nehru's Bandung Andrea Benvenuti,2024-05-31 This book sheds light on a neglected aspect of India s Cold War diplomacy starting with the role of Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and his Congress government in organising the first Asian African Conference in Bandung in April 1955 Andrea Benvenuti shows how in the early Cold War Nehru seized the opportunity accorded by the conference to transcend growing international tensions and pursue an alternative vision a neutralised Asian area of peace underpinned by a code of conduct based on the five principles of peaceful coexistence Relying on Indian Western and Chinese archival sources Nehru s Bandung focuses on the policy concerns and calculations as well as the international factors that drove a sceptical Nehru to support Indonesia s diplomatic push for such a gathering It reveals how in Nehru s estimation Bandung also served a further important purpose securing China s commitment to peaceful coexistence without which stability in Asia would be illusory Nehru s support for an Asian African conference did not derive from an emotional commitment to Afro Asian internationalism Instead it stemmed from a desire to promote a third way in an increasingly polarised world and to forge a stable regional order one that would enhance India s external security and domestic prosperity

The Other Cold War Christopher R. Kilford,2010 Christopher Kilford sets out to carefully examine how Canada became involved with the provision of military equipment advice and training to armed forces throughout the developing world after 1945 impact that military assistance had in several 19th century countries and why later in the 1960s militaries were often viewed as the best means to encourage wider societal modernization while also preventing the spread of communism This latter issue was a key reason why Ottawa found itself authorizing military assistance missions in the post war period until such efforts at the urging of Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau effectively dried up in the early 1970s from back cover
