These results are in accordance with previous studies showing that individuals with a history of alcohol use disorder have a higher risk of relapse than those without a history of alcohol use disorder. The results also suggest that individuals with a history of alcohol use disorder have a higher risk of relapse than those with a history of drug use disorder. This finding is consistent with the idea that individuals with a history of alcohol use disorder have a higher risk of relapse than those with a history of drug use disorder.

When the fee is calculated, the lowest-fee company is the one that pays the least. A lower percentage fee is generally the better option, but there are some exceptions. For example, a company with a 10% fee may be a better choice than a company with a 5% fee if the company with the 5% fee has a higher base fee.
