Forces Driving Imperialism

Before European domination (control) in Africa, African peoples were divided into hundreds of ethnic groups. They spoke more than 1,000 different languages. However, the start of the Industrial Revolution provided European countries with a reason to add lands to their control.

The most significant (important) motive for imperialism in Africa was the rare materials (gold, diamonds, oil etc.). Europeans had taken control of the African coast, but the interior was unexplored until steamboats were able to navigate (travel) the rivers. Explorers, humanitarians (Schmidt), and missionaries (religious people) entered the interior of Africa first. Belgians were first to control territory, and other European nations followed soon afterward.

Social Motives

The race for colonies grew out of a strong sense of national pride. Europeans viewed an empire as a measure of national greatness. As the competition for colonies intensified (strengthened), each country was determined to put its flag on as much of the world as possible.

Many Europeans believed that they were better than other people. The belief that one race is superior (better) to others is called racism. Charles Darwin had a social theory called Social Darwinism whose ideas about evolution and the "survival of the fittest" applied to humans. Those who were fittest for survival enjoyed wealth and success and were considered superior to others. Non-Europeans were considered to be on a lower scale because they had not made the scientific and technological progress that Europeans had. Europeans believed that they had the right and the duty to bring the results of their progress to other countries called the White Man's Burden (problem).

The push for expansion also came from missionaries who worked to convert peoples of Asia, Africa, and the Pacific Islands to Christianity. Many missionaries believed that European rule was the best way to end evil practices such as the slave trade. They also wanted to "civilize" or "westernize" the peoples of the foreign land.

Cecil Rhodes

Cecil Rhodes, a successful businessman and a major supporter of British expansion, was an example of a
