47. Write a paragraph explaining why genetics is considered a young science, even though people have been applying genetic principles for thousands of years.

ANSWER:

Techniques for the observation of cells have been available only since the late 1500s, when the first microscopes were produced. The observation of chromosomes has been possible for only a century and a half. The widespread systematic study of genes and inheritance has been conducted only in the twentieth century, since the rediscovery of Mendel's work in 1900. The structure of DNA was determined only in the mid-twentieth century. Many molecular genetics techniques, like PCR, have been developed only in the last few decades. However, without understanding the nature of chromosomes and genes, plant and animal breeders have been applying the principles of inheritance for thousands of years to obtain desired characteristics in domesticated organisms.

Doherty, Ralph LaRossa, Walter R. Schumm, Suzanne K. Steinmetz, 1993-03-31 Origins We call this book on theoretical orientations and methodological strategies in family studies a sourcebook because it details the social and personal roots i.e. sources from which these orientations and strategies flow. Thus an appropriate way to preface this book is to talk first of its roots its beginnings. In the mid 1980s there emerged in some quarters the sense that it was time for family studies to take stock of itself. A goal was thus set to write a book that like Janus would face both backward and forward a book that would give readers both a perspective on the past and a map for the future. There were precedents for such a project. The Handbook of Marriage and the Family edited by Harold Christensen and published in 1964 the two Contemporary Theories about the Family volumes edited by Wesley Burr, Reuben Hill, F. Ivan Nye and Ira Reiss published in 1979 and the Handbook of Marriage and the Family edited by Marvin Sussman and Suzanne Steinmetz then in production.

Japan James M. Edwards, 1989 Seeing Through Abstraction Anatoly Detwyler, 2025-10-14. During the first half of the twentieth century China saw sweeping changes in the material conditions and practices of communication transforming the volume, velocity, variety, veracity and value of information. Encountering the new abstract matter of information a generation of Chinese writers faced a crisis of literary identity. What made literature distinct from other informational genres such as newspaper columns, financial figures and telegrams? How was the emergent information order reshaping individual and social knowledge? And where would literature stand within this new order? This book examines how writers of the Republican era, 1912-1949, came to recognize and respond to information. Anatoly Detwyler investigates a wide range of literary and graphic experiments that engaged with different forms of information management including data visualization, financial statistics and propaganda science. These works, he argues, collectively attest to a new perceptibility of abstraction and its epistemological implications for apprehending reality. Tracing this mode of perception across fiction, poetry and woodcut art, Seeing Through Abstraction offers a revisionist account of the development of modern Chinese literature and repositions it within the global history of the information age. Strategic Organizational Communication Charles Conrad, 1990 Art in France, 1900-1940 Christopher Green, 2000-01-01. This study sets developments within the frameworks both of their unstable social, political and intellectual world and of the official and independent institutions of art. Proceedings of a Conference Held ... Agricultural Economics Society (Great Britain), 1928 The Emerson Quarterly, 1926 Power Through the Written Word Robin C. Scarcella, 1994. This book follows the Tapestry philosophy and it also features multicultural reading modules in thematic units that explore the many facets of personal and societal power. Unit opening surveys provide unique input on the theme under discussion; audio tape supplements the readings and provides students with additional exposure to meaningful text. Proceedings of the Conferences, Agricultural Economics Society Agricultural Economics Society (Great Britain), 1928 Railway Age, 1930 China's Living Houses Ronald G. Knapp, 1999. It has been said that for the Chinese a house is a living symbol, one endowed with meaning and the result of conscious action. This text reveals dwellings as the dynamic entities that express the vitality of Chinese families as each journeys through life.
