

Chapter 21 – Temperature, Heat, and Expansion

	We sense the movement of molecules as warmth. When molecules move faster, the matter gets warmer.
21.1 Temperature 	Temperature is how hot or cold something is compared to a known value or scale. Most thermometers contain liquids that expand with heat. The Celsius scale sets zero at the temperature water freezes and <math>100^{\circ}</math> as the boiling point of water (at sea level) with the increments in between called degrees. With the Fahrenheit scale the freezing point of water is <math>32^{\circ}</math> and the boiling point is <math>212^{\circ}</math>. Only the U.S. still uses this scale. The Kelvin scale sets <math>0^{\circ}\text{K}</math> as absolute zero (where molecules cease moving) and the freezing point of water as <math>273^{\circ}\text{K}</math> and the boiling point of water at <math>373^{\circ}\text{K}</math>. Science uses the Kelvin scale because temps can be multiplied easily. Temperature is related to the average kinetic energy or movement of the molecules in a substance. ☐ "The higher temperature of a substance, the faster is the motion of its molecules." The total kinetic energy of a substance is not directly related to temperature.    Low Temperature    High Temperature
21.2 Heat	Thermal energy always moves from warmer objects or areas to cooler ones. Heat is the name given to the energy transfer based on a difference in temperature. Heat is moving energy going from one body to another. Thermal contact is when two objects have a heat flow between them. ☐ "When two substances of different temperatures are in thermal contact, heat flows from the higher temperature substances into the lower-temperature substance." Heat flows according to temperature

Impact of Labs and Activities Related to Thermodynamics on Student Learning John G. Radecki, 2008      General Physics Multiple-Choice Questions Abdulaziz Aljalal ,Ibraheem Nasser ,Khateeb-Ur-Rehman, 2011-09-13 This book is a collection of 954 multiple choice questions in waves thermodynamics electricity and magnetism These questions have been given over couple of years to the students of General Physics II course Phys102 at King Fahd University of Petroleum and Minerals They are organized according to the sections of Phys102 textbook Fundamental of Physics by Halliday Resnick and Walker 6th edition This collection might be very helpful for students preparing for exams in Phys102 or similar courses We advise students strongly to study and understand the course material very well before attempting practicing some of these questions Instructors might also find this book a valuable source for questions that can be used in examples or tests The statistics provided with some of the questions might be very valuable in comparing performances      System-specific PI Control Theory for Fluid and Motion Systems Kalman I. Krakow, 2006 A system specific feedback control theory for fluid process control and for motion control has been developed to enable analytical tuning The system specific theory enables the determination of the coefficients required to implement i e tune a proportional integral PI control system analytically from physical characteristics of the fluid or motion system PI control is essentially PID control with the derivative D coefficient set equal to zero A derivative coefficient is not essential and may have a detrimental effect on system response characteristics System specific theory based on the fundamental algorithm for PID control systems was developed from a back to basics perspective considering digital not analog control of fluid systems and motion systems independently For additional information visit www.controlinnovation.com ControlProblems is an application containing numerical system models corresponding to the problems presented in Chapters 23 through 27 of this book The problems represent typical systems that may be analyzed with system specific PI control theory The application enables validation of proportional integral PI coefficient calculations as well as investigation of system response characteristics with various PI coefficients Numerical data for the problems is presented in the ControlProblems application This data may be changed by the user to simulate different PI coefficients modulated capacities complete response intervals signal update intervals loads etc Suitability of user specified PI coefficients may be evaluated from simulated system response characteristics System response characteristic for default PI coefficients may be used for comparison The application is designed for computers running a Windows 98 or later operating system The download is a zip file ControlProblems.zip containing the application in a file titled ControlProblems.exe files required to run the exe file and files required to install and remove the application The following download and setup procedure is required The download should be saved in its own folder e.g C:\ControlProblems or C:\Temp The files contained in the zip file should be extracted to the same folder Run setup.exe to install the application Download ControlProblems.zip file name 1581129211_extra_material.zip approximately 500 KB ControlProblems      Conceptual
