PURPOSE

The purpose of this unit is to learn about how imperialism affected the cultures and development of Africa, China, and Japan. Imperialism is the continuation of the Industrial Revolution in Europe and students will be able to see the chain of events led by industrialization in Britain and the rise of the British Empire. By the end of the unit students will be able to see the connections between the imperialistic actions of Europe and America and how they altered the course of history. Students will also be able to make connections to Japan's rise in World War II.

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

Students will know, understand and be able to explain the concept of imperialism, and how imperialism affected Africa, China, and Japan. They will be able to make connections between the Industrial Revolution and the rise of imperialism. In later units students will be able to make further connections between imperialism and these nations involvements in global conflicts.

IMPACT

The long-term impacts of imperialism are still being experienced today in many developing countries in Africa. Imperialism drastically altered Japan and China's international relations, leading Japan to become an imperial power and China to be dominated by imperialism. The effects of these changes are still felt in international relations today.
