Global Media Ecologies Doris Baltruschat, 2010-07-02 In this study Baltruschat calls attention to dramatic changes in worldwide media production Her work provides new insights into industry re organization digital media and audience interactivity as pivotal relationships are redrawn along the entire value chain of production distribution and consumption Based on an international study she details how cultural agents now negotiate a media landscape through collaborative ventures co productions and format franchising These varied collaborations define the new global media economy and affect a shift across the entire field of cultural production Through detailing the intricacies of globally networked production ecologies Baltruschat elucidates the shifting power relations in media production especially in regards to creative labor and trade of intellectual properties In the new global economy content has become the new currency As a result relational dynamics between cultural agents emerge as key forces in shaping worldwide cultural production now increasingly characterized by flexible production and consumption The blurring of lines in international media developments require new parameters which define creativity and intellectual property in relation to interactive audiences and collaboratively produced content Baltruschat clearly maps and defines these new dynamics and provides solutions as to how creative labor constellations can advance and enrich the new media economy This is especially pertinent as global film and TV production does not necessarily result in greater media diversity On the contrary interdependencies in policy regimes prioritization of certain genres and branded entertainment epitomize how current networked ecologies reflect broader trends in cultural and economic globalization The Hollywood Reporter ,2008 TV Guide ,2006 The Grain Growers' Guide ,1927
