Carnal Knowledge Towards A New Materialism:

Carnal Knowledge Barbara Bolt, Estelle Barrett, 2013-01-08 Carnal Knowledge is an outcome of the renewed energy and interest in moving beyond the discursive construction of reality to understand the relationship between what is conceived of as reality and materiality described as the material turn It draws together established and emerging writers whose research spans dance music film fashion design photography literature painting and stereo immersive VR to demonstrate how art allows us to map the complex relations between nature and culture between the body language and knowledge These writings are unique in the field because they represent the authors commitment to a new materialism through the creative arts The questions they address include Does the material turn in the creative arts take a different turn from continental epistemology philosophy and the humanities How does the agency of matter the material nature of artistic practice and the notion of truth to materials affect what we understand as the new materialism In engaging with these questions the book offers perspectives on the emergence of this exciting fresh field of new materialism Carnal Knowledge Estelle the renewed energy and interest in moving beyond the discursive construction of reality to understand the relationship between what is conceived of as reality and materiality described as the material turn It draws together established and emerging writers whose research spans dance music film fashion design photography literature painting and stereo immersive VR to demonstrate how art allows us to map the complex relations between nature and culture between the body language and knowledge Back Cover Towards a Film Theory from Below Jiri Anger, 2024-05-30 Operating between film theory media philosophy archival practice and audiovisual research Jiri Anger focuses on the relationship between figuration and materiality in early films experimental found footage cinema and video essays Would it be possible to do film theory from below through the perspective of moving image objects of their multifarious details and facets however marginal unintentional or aleatory they might be Could we treat scratches stains and shakes in archival footage as speculatively and aesthetically generative features Do these material actors have the capacity to create weird shapes within the figurative image that decenter distort and transform the existing conceptual and methodological frameworks Building on his theoretical as well as practical experience with the recently digitized corpus of the first Czech films created by Jan Kr eneck between 1898 and 1911 the author demonstrates how technological defects and accidents in archival films shape their aesthetic function and our understanding of the materiality of film in the digital age The specific clashes between the figurative and material spheres are understood through the concept of a crack up This term developed by Francis Scott Fitzgerald and theoretically reimaged by Gilles Deleuze allows us to capture the convoluted relationship between figuration and materiality as inherent to the medium of film containing negativity and productivity difference and simultaneity contingency and fate at the same time even within the tiniest cinematic units Indefinite Visions Beugnet Martine

Beugnet,2017-07-07 Moving image culture seems to privilege the instantly identifiable the recognizable face the well timed stunt the perfectly synchronized line of dialogue Yet perfect in focus visibility does not come naturally to the moving image and if there is one visual effect the eye of the camera can record better than the human eye it is blur Looking beyond popular media to works of experimental cinema and video art this groundbreaking collection addresses the aesthetics and politics of moving images in states of decay distortion indistinctness and fragmentation A range of international scholars examines what is at stake in these images sometimes radical foregrounding of materiality and mediation or of evanescence and spectrality as well as their challenging of the dominant position accorded to legible images How have artists and filmmakers rendered the indefinite image and what questions does it pose With a range of approaches from aesthetics to phenomenology to production studies the authors in this volume investigate techniques themes and concepts that emerge from this wilful excavation of the moving image s material base Art and Dance in Dialogue Sarah Whatley,Imogen Racz,Katerina

Paramana,Marie-Louise Crawley,2020-11-07 This interdisciplinary book brings together essays that consider how the body enacts social and cultural rituals in relation to objects spaces and the everyday and how these are questioned explored and problematised through and translated into dance art and performance The chapters are written by significant artists and scholars and consider practices from various locations including Central and Western Europe Mexico and the United States The authors build on dialogues between for example philosophy and museum studies and memory studies and post humanism and engage with a wide range of theory from phenomenology to relational aesthetics to New Materialism Thus this book represents a unique collection that together considers the continuum between everyday and cultural life and how rituals and memories are inscribed onto our being It will be of interest to scholars and practitioners students and teachers and particularly those who are curious about the intersections between arts disciplines Race and the Forms of Knowledge Ben Spatz,2024-02-15 Enacts a radically interdisciplinary intersectionality to position performance based research in solidarity with decoloniality This boldly innovative work interrogates the form and meaning of artistic research also called practice research performance as research and research creation examining its development within the context of predominately white institutions that have enabled and depoliticized it while highlighting its radical potential when reframed as a lineage of critical whiteness practice Ben Spatz crafts a fluid yet critical new framework explored via a series of case studies that includes Spatz's own practice as research to productively confront hegemonic modes of white writing and white institutionality Ultimately taking Jewishness as a paradigmatically molecular identity variously configured as racial ethnic religious or national they offer a series of concrete methodological and formal proposals for working at the intersections of embodied identities artistic techniques and alternative forms of knowledge Race and the Forms of Knowledge Technique Identity and Place in Artistic Research takes inspiration from recent critical studies of blackness and indigeneity to show how artistic research is always involved in the production and transformation of identity Spatz offers a toolkit of practical methods and concepts from molecular identities to audiovisual ethnotechnics and earthing the laboratory for reimagining the university and other contemporary institutions

Making Religion, 2016-03-11 Discursive approaches to the study of religion have received a lot of attention recently Making Religion brings together leading theorists in the field who explore the theoretical and practical dimensions of the analysis of religious discourse The volume provides an overview of current debates in the field extends and improves upon contemporary theories and methodologies and contributes to the discipline more broadly by flagging the importance of this emerging field of research The combination of theoretical reflection and practical application of discourse analysis as a tool to study religion opens up new perspectives for future research Contributors are Helge Røheim Stephanie Garling Adrian Hermann Titus Hjelm Mitsutoshi Horii George Ioannides Jay Johnston Reiner Keller Jens K.
