Pearl's twilight nature in "The Scarlet Letter": Emblem of sin or self-fulfilling prophecy? Anja Schmidt, 2004-10-16 Seminar paper from the year 2004 in the subject American Studies Literature grade 1 A University of Hamburg course Nathaniel Hawthorne and the Puritans language English abstract In The Scarlet Letter Nathaniel Hawthorne has not only created an intriguing plot but also some very picturesque characters among whom the character of Pearl can probably be viewed as the most unique one Pearl a composition of demon offspring and elf child cannot but raise the question of her identity and nature from the day she is born Not only the Puritan community even her own mother persistently questions her human nature and allegorizes her as a token of guilt Not even Hawthorne can restrain himself in reminding us constantly about the symbolic and functional nature of Pearl so that even the most ignorant reader must notice her resemblance of the Scarlet Letter in the story But is Pearl really just a purpose fulfilling construction Or is there more to this character than its function Is a child s fascination with a shiny and colorful object really that unusual And is it unusual for a child to behave wild if the mother raises the child in a non authoritative form Could it be that any real child born into a situation described in The Scarlet Letter would develop as Hawthorne develops the character of Pearl This work will raise the question of Pearl s true nature and examine whether her character in Hawthorne s romance is purely shaped by her function Yet an analysis of Pearl s character would be a futile attempt if viewed independently of all other characters The reader never gets to know the independent character Pearl She is always reflected via her interaction with other characters or objects Her thoughts remain obscure to the reader unlike the other characters Thus an analysis on Pearl will consist of an analysis of her interactions with the other characters in the story
