John F. Kennedy Vs. Nikita Khrushchev Ellis Roxburgh,2014-12-15 For seven days in October 1962 the world held its breath The Soviet Union and the United States were on the brink of a nuclear war The two men in the center of the conflict the Cuban Missile Crisis were US president John F Kennedy and Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev Readers will discover what events led to the crisis how it was resolved and the aftermath for the two world leaders and their countries Primary source quotations and photographs of unfolding events increase readers suspense while a timeline and bulleted facts present a comprehensible account of this important historic event Averting 'The Final Failure' Sheldon M. Stern,2022 The Cuban missile crisis was the most dangerous confrontation of the Cold War and the most perilous moment in human history Sheldon M Stern longtime historian at the John F Kennedy Library here presents a comprehensive narrative account of the secret ExComm meetings making the inside story of the missile crisis completely understandable to general readers for the first time The author s narrative version of these discussions is entirely new it provides readers with a running commentary on the issues and options discussed and enables them as never before to follow specific themes and the role of individual participants The narrative highlights key moments of stress doubt decision and resolution and even humor and makes the meetings comprehensible both to readers who lived through the crisis and to those too young to remember the Cold War Stern demonstrates that JFK a seasoned Cold Warrior who bore some of the responsibility for precipitating the crisis consistently steered policy makers away from an apocalyptic nuclear conflict which he called with stark eloquence the final failure Cold War Era Monika Davies,2019-09-16 Two nations Two ideologies One Cold War Breathe life into the pages of history with this primary source reader that focuses on the Cold War Era *Cuban Missile Crisis through the Eyes of John F. May,Philip Zelikow,1997 October 1962 the United States and the Soviet Union stood eyeball to eyeball each brandishing enough nuclear weapons to obliterate civilization in the Northern Hemisphere It was one of the most dangerous moments in world history Day by day for two weeks the inner circle of President Kennedy s National Security Council debated what to do twice coming to the brink of attacking Soviet military units in Cuba units equipped for nuclear retaliation And through it all unbeknownst to any of the participants except the President himself tape was rolling capturing for posterity the deliberations that might have ended the world as we know it These are the full and authenticated transcripts of those audio recordings Arguably the most important document in the history of the Cuban missile crisis these transcripts are also a unique window on a drama rarely if ever witnessed by those outside the halls of power the moment by moment decisionmaking of those with the fate of the West in their hands in a constantly changing world threatening situation At the center of it all is President Kennedy wary of experts after the debacle of the Bay of Pigs puzzled and distrustful after confrontations with Khrushchev in Vienna and Berlin and ever mindful of the responsibility symbolized by the satchel his military aides hold nearby containing the codes to unleash nuclear warfare In one brief segment midway through the crisis the President alone speaks his thoughts into the machine In others he copes with hawks from Capitol Hill and the Pentagon And in the last meeting we hear him explaining and defending the formula that finally defused the crisis With him throughout are his team from the State Department including Secretary Dean Rusk Under Secretary George Ball and Llewellyn Thompson his Defense team especially Robert McNamara his key assistants Theodore Sorenson and McGeorge Bundy Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon Vice President Lyndon Johnson and of course his brother Robert the Attorney General All are identified and put into their proper context by the editors whose introduction makes sense of this singular drama within the history of the Cold War and the Kennedy administration and whose conclusions will shape our understanding of the Cold War

The Missiles of October Robert Smith Thompson, 1993-09 A dramatic reinterpretation of a seminal event of the Cold War based on documents recently made available at the National Security Archive Thompson recreates the hysterical anti communist atmosphere of the early 1960s shedding light on one of the darkest moments in recent history Photos
