Congress at Work

Lesson 1 How a Bill Becomes a Law

Review Questions

Directions: Read the lesson and complete the outline below. Refer to your text to fill in the blanks.

I. Types of Bills and Resolutions

- A. Bills dealing with individual people or places are called private bills, while bills involving general matters that apply to the entire nation are called public bills.
- B. Congress also passes resolutions to make policy on unusual or temporary matters.
- C. A joint resolution resolution is passed in the same form by both houses of Congress, a simple resolution resolution is passed by one house alone and affects matters only in that house, and senate resolutions cover matters requiring the action of the House and Senate but do not need a law.
- D. Lawmakers attach riders to bills that are likely to pass.

II. Introducing a Bill

- A. A bill is introduced in the House or Senate by a member of Congress. The bill is then assigned to a committee. The committee holds hearings and may make changes to the bill. The committee then reports the bill to the full House or Senate.
- B. The bill is then debated in the House or Senate. The members may vote to pass the bill, to reject it, or to send it to a conference committee. If the bill is passed by both the House and Senate, it goes to the President.
- C. If the House and Senate pass different versions of the bill, a conference committee is formed. The conference committee is made up of members from both the House and Senate. They meet to negotiate a compromise between the two versions of the bill. Once a compromise is reached, the bill is sent back to both the House and Senate for a final vote. If both houses pass the bill, it goes to the President.
