Performing Religion Gregory F. Barz, 2016-08-09

Performing Religion considers issues related to Tanzanian kwayas KiSwahili choirs musical communities most often affiliated with Christian churches and the music they make known as nyimbo za kwaya choir songs or muziki wa kwaya choir music The analytical approach adopted in this text focusing on the communities of kwaya is one frequently used in the fields of ethnomusicology religious studies culture studies and philosophy for understanding diversified social processes consciousness By invoking consciousness an attempt is made to represent the ways seemingly disparate traditions coexist thrive and continue within contemporary kwaya performance An East African kwaya is a community that gathers several times each week to define its spirituality musically Members of kwayas come together to sing to pray to support individual members in times of need and to both learn and pass along new and inherited faith traditions Kwayas negotiate between multiple musical traditions or just as often they reject an inherited musical system while others may continue to engage musical repertoires from both Europe and Africa Contemporary kwayas comfortably coexist in the urban musical soundscape of coastal Dar es Salaam along with jazz dance bands taarab ensembles ngoma performance groups Hindi film music rap reggae and the constant influx of recorded American and European popular musics This ethnography calls into question terms frequently used to draw tight boundaries around the study of the arts in African expressive religious cultures Such divisions of the arts present well defended boundaries and borders that are not sufficient for understanding the change adaptation preservation and integration that occur within a Tanzanian kwaya Boundaries break down within the everyday performance of East African kwayas such as Kwaya ya Upendo The Love Choir in Dar es Salaam as repertoires traditions histories and cultures interact within a performance of social identity
