Team Leadership In Christian Ministry Kenneth O. Gangel, 1997-01-05 Team leadership is the exercise of one's spiritual gifts under the call of God to serve a certain group of people in achieving the goals God has given them toward the end of glorifying Christ How is your church or organization governed Does it have an authoritarian top down administration Is the ministry vision developed by a few top officials with little input from staff or volunteers Today the definition of an effective leader has changed No longer does the model leader manage like the Lone Ranger either do it his way or no way Today the model leader shares responsibility with fellow team leaders and seeks to serve them In this complete revision of his earlier work Building Leaders for Church Education Dr Gangel carefully lays a biblical foundation for the team leadership model This leadership is not dogmatic control or personality worship It has no room for political power plays Instead it is Paul gently nurturing young Christians in his epistles It is Barnabas willingly thrusting others into situations where they develop their own gifts It is Christ choosing not one but twelve men to carry on His ministry It is servant leadership With examples illustrations and suggestions for further reading at the end of each chapter Dr Gangel prods and encourages the reader to move beyond the safety net of autocratic leadership into the rewarding effective practice of leading with and through others

Remington Brothers' Newspaper Manual, 1893 Religious Responses to Earthquake and Volcanic Eruption Disasters David Chester, Angus Duncan, John Duncan, 2024-07-26 This book argues that although secular and religious perspectives on disasters have often conflicted today there are grounds for believing that the world's major faiths have much to contribute to the processes of post disaster recovery and future disaster risk reduction DRR It seeks to demonstrate how contemporary dialogues between theologians disaster scholars and policymakers are defining new ways of working together These explore how the resources of religious communities e.g buildings human resources and finance may be used to foster successful policies of DRR particularly in the aftermath of earthquakes and volcanic eruptions Musing on the relationships between religion and disasters has occurred for millennia and has affected many societies worldwide In societies where the world's major religions Buddhism Christianity Hinduism Islam Judaism and Shinto have been and remain dominant attempting to find supernatural explanations for disasters has occurred throughout history and there have been many theologies seeking to explain why people suffer losses It is argued that developments both within these traditions of faith and in how disasters are understood by the hazard research community of researchers and planners have allowed a new modus vivendi to emerge which emphasises both a recognition of religious worldviews by academic writers and disaster planners on the one hand and a desire by people of faith and their leaders to be more fully committed to the goals of DRR. The book will appeal to those who are interested in the interface between disasters and theology across the principal religions of the world. This includes researchers and students in geology, geography, theology and religious studies. It will also be useful for specialist academic audience and the educated general reader.
