Chapter 1 Cold War Conflicts:

War and Conflict in Africa Paul D. Williams, 2013-04-26 After the Cold War Africa earned the dubious distinction of being the world's most bloody continent. But how can we explain this proliferation of armed conflicts? What caused them and what were their main characteristics? And what did the world's governments do to stop them? In this fully revised and updated second edition of his popular text, Paul Williams offers an in-depth and wide-ranging assessment of more than six hundred armed conflicts which took place in Africa from 1990 to the present day, from the continental catastrophe in the Great Lakes region to the sprawling conflicts across the Sahel and the web of wars in the Horn of Africa. Taking a broad comparative approach to examine the political contexts in which these wars occurred, he explores the major patterns of organized violence, the key ingredients that provoked them, and the major international responses undertaken to deliver lasting peace. Part I: Contexts provides an overview of the most important attempts to measure the number, scale, and location of Africa's armed conflicts and provides a conceptual and political sketch of the terrain of struggle upon which these wars were waged. Part II: Ingredients analyses the role of five widely debated features of Africa's wars: the dynamics of neopatrimonial systems of governance, the construction and manipulation of ethnic identities, questions of sovereignty and self-determination, as well as the impact of natural resources and religion. Part III: Responses discusses four major international reactions to Africa's wars: attempts to build a new institutional architecture to help promote peace and security on the continent; this architecture's two main policy instruments, peacemaking initiatives and peace operations; and efforts to develop the continent. War and Conflict in Africa will be essential reading for all students of international peace and security studies, as well as Africa's international relations.

Post-Cold War Conflicts in Africa Augustine C. Ochanwe, 2009 Using Liberia and Somalia as case studies, Post-Cold War Conflicts in Africa analyses how the post-Cold War conflicts in these two countries and their management differed from what they would have been during the Cold War era. It shows, for instance, that while in Liberia the major powers appeared content to cede the management of the conflict to the sub-regional group ECOMOG, in Somalia the conflict appeared to be turned into an arena for simple military experiment without any of the old Cold War ideological rivalries playing any role in its trajectory or management. The book argues that the end of the Cold War offers an opportunity for the successful use of a new approach to conflict management in the continent, which would be anchored on traditional African diplomacy. This new approach would involve a triumvirate of eminent men and women from the continent, regional peacekeeping forces, and the warring factions themselves working in concert to replace the rifle with talking till every one agrees.

War and Children Kendra E. Dupuy, Krijn Peters, 2009-11-19 A comprehensive up-to-date presentation of how children and young people are affected by and respond to situations of armed conflict and postwar reconstruction. War and Children: A Reference Handbook looks at one of the most wrenching aspects of armed conflict, ranging across the globe to examine the different ways armed conflict and postwar reconstructions affect children and young people and how they have responded to both war and efforts to alleviate war's destruction. While war has always affected children, the nature of that impact has changed in the last half century. Civil conflicts break out in mostly poor developing countries with large populations of young people and combatants are less hesitant to turn civilian areas into battlegrounds. War and Children explores these phenomena by focusing primarily on recent conflicts worldwide with case studies dramatizing important issues and controversies including the considerable number of children soldiers throughout the world.

From Reaction to Conflict Prevention Fen Osler Hampson, David Malone, 2002. Contributors in public policy, politics, international affairs, development, conflict management and peace studies discuss the practical challenges of conflict prevention within the UN system, considering the causes and dynamics of war, tools being developed to predict the eruption of conflict and what is being done to move from reaction to prevention of conflict. They touch on areas such as measuring the societal impact of war, a systems approach to mitigating violent conflict and electoral assistance and democratization. Hampson teaches international affairs at Carleton University, Canada. Malone is president of the International Peace Academy. Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc., Portland, OR.

Cold War Conflict Paul T. Calbos, 1993. History Gr12 T/g, The Politics of Coercion Ellwood P. Hinman, 2002. The focus of this thesis is the following research question: What does coercion theory suggest about the use of airpower in post-Cold War conflict? This thesis aims to determine if any of the existing theories of coercion, namely punishment, risk, decapitation and denial, can stand alone as an adequately coherent substantive and codified approach. Three important attributes of conflict in the post-Cold War era: 1. limited, non-protracted war; 2. political restraint; and 3. the importance of the better state of peace, provide a framework for this analysis. If these existing constructs fail the test, the study will investigate the potential content and applicability of a new theory for post-Cold War coercive airpower.

Cinematic Cold War Tony Shaw, Denise Jeanne Youngblood, 2010. The first book-length survey of cinema's vital role in the Cold War cultural combat between the U.S. and the USSR. Focuses on 10 films: five American and five Soviet, both iconic and lesser-known works showing that cinema provided a crucial outlet for the global debate between democratic and communist ideologies.

Contemporary Conflict Resolution Oliver Ramsbotham, Tom Woodhouse, Hugh Miall, Harmonie Toros, 2024-10-11. The indispensable guide to conflict resolution in a troubled world. Conflict prevention and resolution, peacekeeping and peacebuilding have never been more important as priorities on the global agenda. The wars in Ukraine and Gaza and tensions between the major powers in what is now a multi-polar world require new conflict resolution responses. The fifth edition of this hugely popular text offers a commanding overview of today's changing conflict landscape and the latest developments and new ideas in the field. Fluently written in an easy-to-follow style, it guides readers carefully through the key concepts, issues and debates, evaluates successes and failures and assesses the main challenges for conflict resolution today. Comprehensively updated and illustrated with new case studies, the fifth edition returns to its favoured twelve-chapter format. It remains the leading text for students of peace and security studies, conflict management and international politics.

as well as policy makers and those working in NGOs and think tanks

Coping with Conflict

After the Cold War Edward A. Kolodziej, Roger E. Kanet, 1996 This volume provides answers to the question of how the international community might cope with armed conflict after the Cold War It identifies key actors states and international organizations that have the resources and potentially the will to address the problems of continuing violence and enduring conflicts The book also evaluates the roles and strategies that might be adopted by these actors unilaterally or cooperatively to ease or end such armed struggles The authors review the role of the United States Russia Japan and China all of which have the potential to play constructive roles in resolving conflicts They also explore the contributions that the United Nations the European Community and other transnational organizations can make to building a more peaceful and secure world. Instead of appealing to grand theory as a guide for coping, the authors conclude different mixes of actors, resources, roles, and strategies will have to be fashioned to meet the special needs of each conflict. Coping is viewed as an international imperative and not as the responsibility or prerogative of any one actor. The volume will be of interest to anyone concerned with international relations, international organizations, and security issues. Contributors are Arthur J. Alexander, Mohammed Ayoob, Nicole Ball, Paul F. Diehl, Roger E. Kanet, Samuel S. Kim, Edward A. Kolodziej, Edward J. Laurence, David F. Linowes, Patrick M. Morgan, Jack Snyder, Janice Gross Stein, and I. William Zartman. Understanding Western Society: Combined Volume

Conflict Resolution in Africa - The Case of the Organisation of African Unity (OAU) Marvin Ankrah, 2012-11-27

Master's Thesis from the year 2004 in the subject Politics Region Africa grade 1-9 University of Freiburg University of Freiburg Germany and Kwazulu Natal South Africa course Sociology Global Studies Programme language English abstract The objective of this paper was to investigate the causes of conflict in Africa and the role played by the Organisation of African Unity (OAU) in ensuring political order during its period of existence. The study employed content analysis of historical documents, academic works, Internet sources, and also current conflict situations in Africa as a baseline for its argument. The results showed that despite the role of ethnicity as a source of conflicts in Africa, political and economic factors are the major sources of tension on the continent. The OAU, this paper argues, could not have a tangible impact in its attempt to ensure peace and stability on the continent, hence the functional shift in the role of Sub-regional Organisations in the continent in the area of peace and security. Notwithstanding its logistical and financial weaknesses, the Organisation failed to understand the sources of tension of most of these conflicts so as to map out a more pragmatic, multi-sectoral and multi-dimensional approach to manage and resolve them. Factors such as the need for a more pragmatic and realistic continental policies involving good governance and genuine decentralisation were identified as crucial elements of consideration if Africa is to enjoy a sound, stable, peaceful political and economic environment in the new millennium. Total Cold War Kenneth Alan Osgood, 2006. Osgood focuses on major campaigns such as Atoms for Peace, People to People, and cultural exchange programs. Drawing on recently declassified documents that record U.S. psychological operations in some three dozen countries, he tells how U.S. propaganda agencies presented everyday life in America to the world: its citizens living full, happy lives in a classless society where economic bounty was shared by all. Osgood further investigates the ways in which superpower disarmament negotiations were used as propaganda maneuvers in the battle for international public opinion. He also reexamines the early years of the space race, focusing especially on the challenge to American propagandists posed by the Soviet launch of Sputnik.

Mao's Military Romanticism Shu Guang Zhang, 1995 Zhang argues that war in Korea offered Mao yet another opportunity to expand and consolidate his political power at home while at the same time uniting the Chinese proletariat against Yankee imperialism and proving to the international community that China had arrived as a major world power     The Silence of the UN Security Council Virgil Hawkins, 2004 Questo lavoro ha lo scopo di presentare una più comprensiva valutazione del comportamento del Consiglio di Sicurezza delle sue risposte o talvolta insufficienze con un completo esame dei conflitti accaduti nel mondo negli anni 1990 dall'invasione del Kuwait da parte dell'Iraq al conflitto in Somalia Bosnia Rwanda e Haiti fino alle recenti situazioni del Kosovo e dell'Iraq Annotation Supplied by Informazioni Editoriali     John Brown to Bob Dole Virgil W.
