Empire in the Age of Globalisation Ray Kiely, 2005-09-20 This book examines the relationship between US hegemony and contemporary globalisation Many introductory textbooks on globalisation tend to be simplistic and conservative This book moves things forward providing a critical review of the globalisation debate Kiely reveals the weaknesses of globalisation theory and argues that we can only approach a proper understanding of the contemporary world order by linking globalisation to debates on capitalism imperialism neo liberalism and universal human rights He explores US hegemony in the light of these issues showing how liberal internationalism cannot be separated from capitalism neo liberalism and US empire building

The First Age of Industrial Globalization Maartje Abbenhuis, Gordon Morrell, 2019-10-17 This book offers an accessible and lively survey of the global history of the age of industrialization and globalization that arose in the wake of the Napoleonic Wars and collapsed in the maelstrom of the First World War Through a combination of industrialization technological innovation and imperial expansion the industrializing powers of the world helped to create inter connected global space that left few regions untouched In ten concise chapters this book relays the major shifts in global power economics and society outlining the interconnections of global industrial imperial and economic change for local and regional experiences identities and politics It finishes with an expos on the catastrophic impact of the First World War on this global system The First Age of Industrial Globalization weaves together the histories of industrialization world economy imperialism international law diplomacy and war which historians usually treat as separate developments and integrates them to offer a new analysis of an era of fundamental historical change It shows that the revolutionary changes in politics society and international affairs experienced in the 19th century were inter connected developments It is essential reading for any student of modern global history

Genocide in the Age of the Nation State Mark Levene, 2005-08-26 Most books on genocide consider it primarily as a twentieth century phenomenon In The Rise of the West and the Coming of Genocide Levene argues that this approach fails to grasp its true origins Genocide developed out of modernity and the striving for the nation state both essentially Western experiences It was European expansion into all hemispheres between the fifteenth and nineteenth centuries that provided the main stimulus to its pre 1914 manifestations One critical outcome on the cusp of modernity was the French revolutionary destruction of the Vendée Levene finishes this volume at the 1914 watershed with the destabilising effects of the rise of the West on older Ottoman Chinese Russian and Austrian empires Very impressive Eric Hobsbawm Cosmopolitan Primitivism Paul Stasi, 2006 Our Cuban Colony Leland Hamilton Jenks, 1928 Since 1500, Chapters 15-30 Bulliet, Richard W. McKay, Bennett D. Hill, John Buckler, 1979 The International Politics of Eurasia, 1997 Empire & Emancipation Jan Nederveen Pieterse, 1990 History philosophy a whole sweep of ideas come together in Empire and Emancipation in an analysis that both illuminates and provokes A Sivanandan Marxist perspectives equate imperialism with capitalism Preoccupation with the economics of empire over the last century has obscured the politics of empire While there are many regional or period studies on the subject of emancipation they lack the wide angled approach necessary for a global understanding of the forces at work In Empire and Emancipation Jan Nederveen Pieterse breaks with traditional approaches to imperialism to present a more balanced view of history one that examines the logic of liberation as well as the logic of imperialism As the author points out in his introduction We appear to know more and to think more about domination than about liberation Does this indicate that in our general perception history is chiefly made from above He identifies several continuities and discontinuities of imperial history between European and non European dimensions of empire between aristocratic and capitalist modes between race within Europe and beyond between the British Empire and United States hegemony Nederveen Pieterse examines class struggles in the Western world the Irish struggle the struggles of American Indians and of the African diaspora to bring together in one historical perspective the experiences and projects of the world's most powerful and most powerless Empire and Emancipation is the first theoretically developed study of both domination and liberation as the shaping forces of world history Age of Empires Robert Aldrich, 2007-10-30 The story of thirteen modern Empires a story full of suspense cruelty conflict heroism great explorations and extraordinary feats of endurance is here told with a rich profusion of illustrations drawn from a wide range of vivid colourful authentic sources Now that the age of empires is fully over it is possible for the first time to draw up a balance sheet of praise and blame The Earth and Its Peoples Richard W. Bulliet, 2002 The Earth and Its Peoples is a truly global text that employs a fundamental theme the interaction of human beings and the environment as a point of comparison for different times places and societies Special emphasis is given to technology and how technological development underlies all human activity The text has been rewritten to improve coverage of the early Americas Russia the Enlightenment the Renaissance and the Industrial Revolution Catalogue of the Public Library of the City of Fall River Fall River Public Library,1882 World History Elisabeth Gaynor Ellis,Anthony Esler,2014 A Problem of Great Importance Karl Ittmann,2013 This volume examines the significant role population science played in British colonial policy in the twentieth century as the imperial state attempted to control colonial populations using new agricultural and public health policies private family planning initiatives and by imposing limits over migration and settlement A Problem of Great Importance traces British imperial efforts to engage metropolitan activists who could improve its knowledge of colonial demography and design programs to influence colonial population trends While imperial population control failed to achieve its goals British institutions and experts would be central to the development of postcolonial population programs Researchers scholars and historians of British history will gain greater perspective into the effects of demography on imperial governance and colonial and postcolonial British views of their place in the world
